In his apprenticeships, he shares what he has learned over the course of his illustrious career and explains how anyone can begin earning nearly a hundred thousand in monthly rental income. During the program, aspiring real estate professionals will be provided access to weekly calls and webinars with Garner ? along with Exclusive Manuals which include Deal Hunting, Deal Renovating, Deal Selling, Deal Financing, Deal Marketing and Deal Management.

A number of people have sold their houses to Starting Point, following which their excellent experience compelled them to leave great reviews about the company. ?Jeff and Starting Point did a fine job buying my uncle's house out of the estate,? says one former client. ?The house is in excellent condition structurally and in a nice area, but it's far from meeting code; the kitchen is dated to the early '50s, and the carpet and paint are in terrible condition from almost 70 years of occupancy by two very heavy smokers. Gregg quoted a price very close to my estimate of the house's worth, considering its condition. Everything went perfectly until a couple of miscommunications with the title company that were promptly corrected by the Starting Point team. On the whole it was a completely satisfactory transaction that puts a lie to a common perception that distressed home buyers are shady actors; Gregg and his team were completely honest and dealt in a meticulously proper fashion. Good job! I have every expectation that the house will be restored to its best condition and bring significant value to the neighborhood.?
