Other common fish that can be caught at other times of the year include Redfish, Black Drum, Bluefin & Yellowfin Tuna, Wahoo, Mahi Mahi, Amberjack, and Striped Bass. More information on what visitors can hope to score in the North Carolina waters, depending on the time of the year that they are visiting, can be gleaned by referring to a seasonal fishing chart. Readers who are not too keen on fishing, and view it as a distraction, also have a lot to look forward to, as the Wilmington and Wrightsville Beach areas are stacked with the presence of plenty of hotels, restaurants, and nightlife to make a trip to the coast of The Old North State a memorable one.

The crew on the fishing charter from Reel Zinger Sportfishing will provide all fishing rods, bait, tackle, and ice. The items provided will be optimized to match the catch that is most popular during that time of year. Regardless of whether the visitors are experts, intermediates, or novices at fishing, they can book the services offered by Reel Zinger Sportfishing and leave all the planning and logistics up to the company. It also takes care of all regulatory approvals with the company itself possessing a blanket fishing license for all residents and non-residents of North Carolina, covering every visitor that books with them. The fishing charters are family-friendly, and children are welcome too, under the provision that they wear a life jacket while they are on board. Though the company recommends a maximum party size of 4 due to the size of the boats, it can make accommodations for parties of up to 6 people. If the captain cancels the fishing charter because of bad weather or rough sea conditions, the client's money will be refunded.
