May 24, 2022 -
Phillip, ACT based Acacia Dental Group would like to make Canberra residents aware that the dental office provides Invisalign dental alignment treatment. Invisalign is a highly effective method of straightening teeth, and at Acacia Dental Group the treatment is supervised by licensed dentists and orthodontists. Most dental offices? clear aligner treatments are supervised through regular visits, but Acacia provides patients with the option of remote supervision. Invisalign can treat mild to severe misalignment along with conditions such as overcrowding, overbite, underbite, crossbite and open bite.

?Unaligned or crooked teeth are surprisingly common,? says Acacia Dental Group. ?As are the infamous ?train track? kids braces that can be fitted to correct them. Invisalign clear aligners are an innovative orthodontic treatment which straightens teeth without using metal braces or wires. As a leading treatment at our dental practice in Woden, the Invisalign clear aligners offer a comfortable, removable and almost invisible alternative to traditional braces. The near-invisible removable aligners are custom made using SmartTrack technology, allowing them to change your appearance drastically without impacting on your life.?

Invisalign aligners are unique in that they are clear, meaning they are far more discreet than traditional methods of teeth alignment like braces. They are custom-made for each patient, delivering a constant force even when the teeth are in motion. The aligners are made using 3D printers and must be replaced every few weeks to allow for small adjustments. They are crafted from a highly elastic, flexible material which is comfortable to wear while still being highly effective. These features combine to provide a better, more comfortable fit. The technology that goes into Invisalign makes it possible for the dentist to plan every step of the treatment. Using highly advanced technology, a dentist can ensure that every tooth moves in a very precise direction.

The dental office says, ?There are lots of reasons why teeth become misaligned. Lack of oral care, childhood habits or genetics are a few examples. Having crooked teeth, however, can have a significant impact on our health and wellbeing. Not having the smile we want can also impact our confidence and self-esteem. Invisalign should be a consideration for anyone dissatisfied with the alignment of their teeth. A consultation at our dental practice in Woden will help you to understand your options, and you will discover whether Invisalign is the perfect solution for you.?

Invisalign is one of the most popular alternatives to traditional braces. However, they are not for everyone, and the dentists at Acacia Dental Group carry out a thorough assessment to determine whether or not Invisalign is right for each patient. First, Invisalign aligners are removable, which means that the patient must be committed to wearing them for most of the day in order to make it work. A patient who removes their Invisalign for any other reason besides eating or cleaning their teeth is unlikely to achieve the results they want. It may also be necessary to make certain lifestyle changes, such as reducing coffee or wine intake. An experienced dentist will evaluate each patient and determine whether or not they are a good candidate for Invisalign treatment. The process will not produce results overnight, but with a bit of commitment, a patient can be sure to see results in a relatively short period.

Acacia Dental Group is considered by many Canberra residents to be the best location for Invisalign treatment. ?Not all dentists are equally trained. Some dentists pursue specialist training,? the clinic says. ?Many dentists won?t have carried out the necessary training to offer correct Invisalign treatment. To be a reputable Invisalign-trained provider, dentists must attend specialised instructional sessions and participate in on-going clinical training. Acacia Dental?s Dr. Mallik has over 20 years of dental experience with specialisms in dental implants, orthodontic braces, and Invisalign dentistry. He is passionate about the Invisalign treatment and committed to achieving the best possible result.?
