

Huntsville Community Chorus Celebrates 100 Years of Broadway in Concert on November 20th

November 10, 2015

November 10, 2015 - PRESSADVANTAGE -

Huntsville, Alabama's longest-continuing performing arts organization, the Huntsville Community Chorus, is bringing together its Symphonic Chorus, Children's Chorale, Youth Chorale and music scholarship winners to celebrate 100 years of Broadway musicals. Titled Broadway's Best, the concert takes place at Randolph School's Thurber Arts Center, located at 4915 Garth Road SE at 7pm on Friday, November 20th.

Broadway has produced some of our most endearing and memorable popular music, tunes that have stood the test of time. The concert features a smorgasboard of Broadway medleys as well as music by Bernstein, Copland, highlights from Fiddler on the Roof and Les Misérables as well as a surprise excerpt from Mozart.

Broadway's Best Adult tickets are $15, Seniors $13, College Students $10. Students in Kindergarden through 12th grade may attend for free with a ticketed adult. They can be ordered by phone at (256)533-6606 for pick up at will call, or by visiting the chorus office at 3312 Long Avenue Monday-Thursday between 9:00am and 3:00pm. Tickets may also be purchased at the door the night of the concert.

The Huntsville Community Chorus Association (HCCA), was established in 1946 and incorporated as a non-profit all-volunteer community choral organization. HCCA strives to offer the best in choral music and musical theater through various groups: The Symphonic Chorus, The Chamber Chorale, Children's Chorale, Youth Chorale, and other ensembles that perform throughout the year.

If you would like to support and encourage choral music in Huntsville and the surrounding area by attending this event, or sharing with others you know, you can visit the Community Chorus website for full details.

###

For more information about Huntsville Community Chorus Association, contact the company here: Huntsville Community Chorus Association
Lynn Rudow
256-533-6606
info@thechorus.org
3312 Long Avenue
Huntsville, Alabama 35805

Huntsville Community Chorus Association

The Huntsville Community Chorus Association (HCCA), established in 1946 and incorporated as a non-profit all-volunteer community choral organization, is Huntsville's longest-continuing performing arts group.

Website: <http://www.theChorus.org>

Email: info@thechorus.org

Phone: 256-533-6606

Powered by PressAdvantage.com