In a recent consumer award organized by a local community group in Arizona, the John Boos 10" Thick Walnut Butcher Block on Black Pencil Legs marketed by Butcher Block Co., a business in Phoenix, AZ, was voted best high end holiday gift in the kitchen and cooking category. Butcher Block Co. was proud to have been nominated and even prouder to have actually won in their category. Since the holidays are just around the corner, they have increased their stock to meet with extra demand.

"We were so happy to be nominated for the award at all," says Kathleen Grodsky from Butcher Block Co. "To find we have actually won it is amazing, we felt like we won the Oscar! We have already seen a significant increase in purchases but we are ready to meet this larger demand. We really can't thank the community enough for their ongoing faith in us and their overall support."

The John Boos butcher block comes in five different sizes, ranging from 18 inch square to 30 inch square. Customers can also choose to add oil treatment to the board. Three 'mystery' oils can be added to their purchase for treatment. Other optional treatment includes beeswax board cream. These have all been designed to ensure the board continues to look beautiful and that it remains clean and hygienic and fit for purpose.

One of the reasons why Butcher Block Co. won the category is because of their fantastic reviews, which all highlight the quality of not just their products but also their customer service. "I received my standing butcher block last week, and I am thrilled with it," says Allison C. from Dallas, TX. "I have wanted one for years. Your prices are very reasonable and the quality is top notch. I couldn't wait to make some gazpacho to try it out (that is the most labor intensive chopping dish I could think of). Loved it! I just have to think of who I am going to will the block to, because I know it will outlast me. Thanks for years to come of happy cooking."
