May 27, 2022 - PRESSADVANTAGE -

Go Degree presents a new article that time frames for certain online business degrees. The report, published on Go Degree's website, was compiled by the company's experts. The report was released amid the increasing popularity of online degrees in the US.

Degrees require a lot of time and effort, but they are well worth the effort. Skills can be gained that apply to a variety of fields, including manufacturing, hospitality, and health care. Employers largely believe that a college education is important, according to a 2018 study by the Association of American Colleges & Universities. In addition, 85 percent of hiring managers said that a college degree is worth the time due to the advanced training and well-rounded knowledge gained in college. The publication analyzes how long it takes to obtain a business degree. The experts in the report discussed the timeframes for earning a business degree.

According to Go Degree, the company's experts compiled the guide after thorough market research. The purpose of the publication was to help business students learn about their options for achieving a business degree by guiding readers through the timeframes for each. The guide discussed four degree levels including, associate degree, bachelor degree, masters and doctoral degrees to give a clear understanding of how long it will take to get a business qualification. The report in-depth looks at the number of credit hours required for each certification.

Since its inception, education advisor Go Degree has provided information, advice, research, reviews, comparisons, and analyses for children's educational guidance so they can succeed in life. The report was published as part of their regular research on online degrees in the US for their readers.
