

Brooklyn Pedestrian Accident Attorney Samantha Kucher Discusses The Leading Causes Of Pedestrian Accidents In New York City

June 15, 2022

June 15, 2022 - PRESSADVANTAGE -

Brooklyn pedestrian accident lawyer Samantha Kucher releases a new article (<https://www.rrklawgroup.com/car-accident-lawyer/new-york-city-pedestrian-injury-lawyer/>) that discusses the leading causes of pedestrian accidents in NYC. The lawyer mentions that New York is considered to be a pedestrian-friendly city with some of the highest rates of pedestrian traffic in the country.

According to the Brooklyn pedestrian accident lawyer, "Without the same safety protections as a driver, pedestrians are far more vulnerable when they are involved in a motor vehicle accident. Even at relatively low speeds, a pedestrian can be seriously injured."

The lawyer explains that New York City is vehicle-centric. It allows pedestrians to cross streets with cars and other types. For pedestrians who walk on sidewalks every day, it can be dangerous because of negligent drivers.

Attorney Samantha Kucher states that pedestrian accidents occur for many reasons. These include speeding; distracted driving, driver fatigue, and aggressive driving. It may also include drug-impaired or impaired driving and failure to yield the right-of-way.

Attorney Kucher mentions that pedestrians can also be responsible for the accident. Every pedestrian in New York City should be familiarized with the basic pedestrian laws.

In the article, the lawyer states that a motor vehicle accident with a pedestrian can result in serious injuries and even death. No matter how severe the impact is, injuries can still be devastating and may last a lifetime.

The lawyer enumerates the common injuries suffered by victims of pedestrian accidents in the city. This includes compound fractures, crushed bones, traumatic brain injuries, internal bleeding, paralysis, amputation, post-traumatic stress disorder, and wrongful death.

Lastly, attorney Samantha Kucher says that it is very important to seek the help of a pedestrian accident lawyer if someone has been the victim of a pedestrian accident. Having a skilled attorney may be able to help the victim receive the compensation they deserve.
