June 23, 2022

LITTLETON, MA - June 23, 2022 -
Cestari is celebrating the launch of one of its latest products, a glass spaghetti container with a bamboo lid.

The spaghetti jar from Cestari is not just ideal for storing spaghetti but it can also be used to store any dry food such as bow-tie pasta, spaghetti, macaroni, rotini, egg noodles, candy, and more. At a weight of just ?1.08 pounds, it is very light and a breeze to handle during everyday cooking. The productis 11.5 inches tall and has a diameter of 3.25 inches. The height of the pasta jar lets it accommodate spaghetti without having to break the strands to fit.

The company?s spokesperson, Susan MacDowell, talks about the dimensions of the Cestari spaghetti jar by saying, ?This pasta container was designed with ease of use in mind. We wanted to create something that you would use regularly. We didn?t want to design a product that would get shoved in the back of your pantry and forgotten about. Everything, from the size of the Cestari Kitchen spaghetti jar to the choice of materials used in its construction, is crafted for usability. We believe that this is the best spaghetti jar on the market?

The careful design considerations extend to the spaghetti jar?s materials. The borosilicate glass used to create it is completely food safe since it is lead-free and BPA-free. Moreover, borosilicate glass is also highly durable and heat resistant making it the perfect kind of glass for use in storage jars. The lid of the pasta jar is made from eco-friendly, plastic-free, BPA-free, and phthalate-free bamboo.

The spaghetti jar?s online listing describes its aesthetic appeal as allowing ?these pantry glass containers to fit in with any decor, from rustic country farmhouse to sleek contemporary kitchens.? The jar forms an airtight lid that prevents pests from entering and spoiling the dry food within. The company also says that the jar and silicone seal is dishwasher safe making its maintenance and cleaning a hassle-free affair. Cestari recommends, that to ensure the product has a long life, the bamboo lid should be hand washed and dried thoroughly before being reinserted into the jar.

Cestari ?s glass pasta jar comes with Cestari's Lifetime Replacement Warranty.
