The specialties of the chiropractor near me Beaverton residents can go to include: aging issues, arthritis, auto accident injuries, balance issues, carpal tunnel, chronic fatigue, chronic pain, concussions, disc conditions, extremity pain, frequent colds, gamers? posture, hand and foot numbness, headaches and migraines, inflammation and swelling, knee pain, leg numbness, limited motion, low back pain, military injuries, muscular issues, neurological conditions, pediatric orthopedic complaints, pregnancy issues, sciatica, scoliosis, shoulder conditions, sports specific injuries, stress, tendinitis and soft tissue issues, temporomandibular joint dysfunction (TMJ), work related injuries, and whiplash.

In the recent five star review, Gina B. says, "I came to TPC 6 months after my auto accident after being treated elsewhere and I am so glad I did! For the past 2 months my adjustments with Dr. Bell and Dr. Mennell have made a vast improvement in the amount of pain I was feeling but they have also restored range of motion in my neck, and shoulders especially. I've also been seeing Martin Scott for my massage appointments and the work he has done has been amazing! I love that he takes the time to really listen and understand what my areas of concern are and that he shares his knowledge about caring for the body as a whole through hydration and breath work with simple things I can do in between visits. Everyone there makes me feel welcomed and listened to and I know they are all focused on delivering the best care possible. Lily and Brandy are scheduling rockstars and tolerate my ever changing schedule and are always willing to answer any questions I may have with a smile!?"

When in need of massage therapy Beaverton residents can also rely on True Potential Chiropractic. Their licensed massage therapists (LMTs) always consider every client as an individual and realize that each body is unique. Thus, they always provide personalized massages using a range of techniques to enhance the patient's overall health and wellness. The LMTs typically help patients recover from the usual life challenges and work in collaboration with the chiropractic physicians to help with both muscular and joint-imbances, dysfunctions, and compensations, including but not limited to whiplash and auto accident injuries; TMJ; sprains, strains, and muscle cramps; traumatic injuries such as slips and falls; headaches, back pain, and neck pain; and post surgery.

Launched in 2013, True Potential Chiropractic provides lifestyle care for everyone. This chiropractic practice has grown through the years into one of the top providers of family corrective care and wellness in the Pacific Northwest. Dr. Bryen Bell, who established this chiropractic clinic, is a specialist in providing non-drug solutions as the first choice when providing health care. He and his family had migrated to the Pacific Northwest during the summer of 2013 and it was then that he initiated the fully computerized and cutting edge corrective care family wellness center in Beaverton, Oregon. This is a family and sports rehab chiropractic practice that is focused on offering better health and wellness through maintenance and prevention rather than only acting after a health issue has already occurred, such as a disease, disability, or pain. He bases the care that he provides on the six laws of the human body, which are: exercise, alignment, diet, stress management, mindset, and rest. Dr. Bell obtained his chiropractic degree (D.C.) and BS degree in human biology from the Cleveland Chiropractic College in Los Angeles.
