Physical therapists and other healthcare professionals are recruited by Proactive Healthcare Recruiters for a variety of organizations around the nation. Their team of experts searches for qualified medical professionals who are licensed, highly skilled and experienced to fill the open positions in these organizations. They are professionals at screening candidates and can tell the difference between a terrible and a good hire. They take care to meet all of the client's criteria and expectations with relation to all of their recruits because they fully realize the expense and disappointment of recruiting an unqualified employee. When it comes to locating the ideal healthcare experts for a specific position, there are a lot of reasons why Proactive Healthcare Recruiters are well-liked.

To begin with, they are one of the top recruiters in the healthcare industry, making sure that each prospect they submit is deserving of the client's time, effort and investment. They are also acquainted with the Shreveport market. They always adhere to a set of core principles that help them identify applicants that are the greatest potential fits for the client's corporate culture, and they will also check that candidates align with the company's mission of providing superior services.

In addition to physical therapists, Proactive Healthcare Recruiters can assist with the hiring of high-caliber nurses, healthcare executives, occupational therapists, speech therapists, sales and marketing professionals, healthcare information management professionals and healthcare IT professionals. On their website, both companies and job seekers can locate what they are looking for with ease. Clients of the company have expressed their positive experiences about Proactive in their many testimonials. Jeff G. rates the company 5 Stars on their Google profile and states, "Proactive Healthcare Recruiters lives up to its name. Instead of throwing an ad up on a resume website like all other recruiters, they sought out the perfect candidate for our position. We hired Kathy for our Registered Nurse role, and she is more than we could ever ask for. Proactive definitely found the perfect person, and we can't thank them more."

Proactive Healthcare Recruiters was established in 2012 with the aim of helping healthcare facilities and recruitment managers find the right individuals for their team to increase productivity and develop a winning team. They avoid merely waiting for the ideal applicant to apply after posting on job boards. Instead, before presenting applicants, their recruiters conduct a market analysis for their clients, look for competent, passive prospects and extensively screen them to find the best fit for the team in question. In order to find the best candidate for the client's organization, Proactive Healthcare Recruiters conducts a search that is currently unmatched by others. This search makes use of cutting-edge search, advertising and matching technologies and methods.
