

M.C. Johnson Releases Catheter Holders For Children

November 18, 2015

November 18, 2015 - PRESSADVANTAGE -

Fort Myers, FL based M.C. Johnson, Co. has announced the release of a catheter and tube holder range designed especially for children. Matt LeLievre, spokesperson for the company states, "Our aim is to provide the highest quality of products that help to lower costs and increase nursing productivity. We feel that our new pediatric catheter and tube holders will do just that."

The multipurpose catheter and pediatric tube holders are designed specifically for securing pediatric catheters and medical tubing. They are hypoallergenic and DEHP and latex free to avoid sensitivity in younger patients.

M.C. Johnson, Co. was founded more than 30 years ago by Melissa C. Johnson, an LPN. The goal of the company is to offer medical supplies of the highest quality that will help to provide a better quality of medical care for patients. They offer a wide selection of medical supplies and products, all designed to help staff to deal with common issues faced during treatment.

"We're always looking for ways to improve on the process of treating patients, as a means of helping both medical staff and patients," states LeLievre.

LeLievre points out that by providing catheter holders designed specifically for smaller patients, the company hopes to alleviate many of the issues and worries that medical staff face when treating pediatric patients. He says that many products in the medical field are not designed with the size of children in mind, and simply do not work as they should for younger patients, which often leads to discomfort for children and more difficulty for staff when searching for effective ways of treating certain illnesses and diseases. The new pediatric sized products are designed specifically to help avoid these issues and provide staff, patients, and parents with less worry when children are hospitalized. More comfort means better quality of care and overall, a better chance at recovery.

The company states that medical staff can request free samples via their official website. Information about the newly designed catheter holder for children can also be found on the site, as well as other products currently sold by the company.

###

For more information about M.C. Johnson, Co., contact the company here: M.C. Johnson, Co. Matt LeLievre (239) 433-0619 customerservice@mcjohnson.com 8801 Business Park Dr Suite 201, Fort Myers, FL 33912

M.C. Johnson, Co.

This company is based in Fort Myers, Florida, and they are suppliers and manufacturers of disposable medical catheter and tube holding devices for children and adults.

Website: <http://www.mcjohanson.com>

Email: customerservice@mcjohnson.com

Phone: (239) 433-0619

Powered by PressAdvantage.com