July 05, 2022

Panama City, FL - July 05, 2022 -
Bay Clinic of Chiropractic, based in Panama City, FL, is offering comprehensive chiropractic care in Pretty Bayou. Led by Dr. Tony Salamay, the clinic offers both chiropractic treatment and nutrition response testing to everyone in their community and beyond.

Dr. Salamay treats patients for a variety of conditions, with the most common being chronic pain and fatigue. In his practice, he utilizes applied kinesiology as well as a number of other techniques of muscle testing to uncover the source of his patients? issues. The doctor also uses his vast foundation in clinical nutrition to determine what a patient may be lacking in their diet and more, the correction of which can often serve to improve their condition dramatically all by itself. Failing that, manual adjustments of the spine, feet, knees, shoulders will be applied along with other holistic techniques as part of a complete treatment plan.

As a holistic and functional medicine doctor, Dr. Salamay understands how patients deserve to be treated. His educational background and experience allow him to diagnose and treat chronic pain, diabetes, fibromyalgia, thyroid disorders, autoimmune disorders and more, and his personal examination skills are supported by a range of state-of-the-art laboratory testing and diagnostic tools. Where other healthcare providers may seek to help the patient mask their symptoms, Dr. Salamay seeks to identify and treat the root cause, giving the patient lasting relief and a concrete path towards recovery.

One notable 5-Star review for Bay Clinic of Chiropractic shares a great deal of insight on the experience any patient will have at the clinic. The review, posted on the clinic?s Google profile, touches on several aspects that people may be acutely familiar with if they happen to be in need of a chiropractor ? namely pain that seems to have no end, a loss of energy and so on. These signs, which many might be inclined to ignore as a simple part of life or growing older, can actually be the body?s way of announcing that something is wrong, and the clinic says patients should err on the side of caution and get evaluated by a professional as soon as possible.

?I am so grateful for finding this place,? says Amanda Bryan, ?just as I had almost lost all hope. I?ve been dealing with chronic pain, fatigue and just overall feeling ?not right? for a few years now, and other doctors told me that medical tests said I was fine, so it must just be emotional. Dr. Salamay and everyone else at the office really care, and it shows. He really takes the time to listen, and considers all aspects of where the issue could be coming from. He doesn?t just skim the surface. He really cares about helping you long-term and improving your quality of life.?

The review concludes, ?The thing that really stuck with me after my first consultation was, ?Wow, he believes me.? That alone gave me a sense of hope again. I?ve been coming for a couple months now, and I finally feel like I?m starting to get a normal life back. I highly recommend this place for anyone who feels like they?ve reached the end of their road. It has been well worth it for me.?

According to the clinic, this is the precise standard of care they strive to deliver with each patient. No matter what their needs may be, the team will always take a patient?s concerns seriously and fully explore the matter to determine the root cause of their pain or discomfort. Bay Clinic of Chiropractic recognizes that patients are the best witnesses to what is happening in their bodies, and pain, discomfort, unease and so on are often signs that an issue is present. At the clinic, these issues will be pursued swiftly and decisively.

Dr. Salamay and his team invite every member of their community to call and schedule a consultation if they are dealing with any persistent health issues. He seeks to give every patient hope that a condition they once thought was permanent can now come to an end.
