July 07, 2022 - PRESSADVANTAGE -

Morgan Hill, CA based My Truck Now is offering their community full access to a fleet of new and used work trucks. The company recognizes that customers in search of work trucks often need to obtain them on short notice, so a swift purchase experience is guaranteed. All a customer needs to do is contact the dealership and make their interest known. Following this, the team will immediately begin the process of getting them the truck they want.

My Truck Now's primary focus is on building an inventory of Ram trucks with as wide a variety of features and options as possible. Given that their customers' orders represent the needs of numerous industries, the company recognizes that they need to be flexible when determining what kind of truck will suit the intended purpose it will be put to. Furthermore, the company is highly cognizant of the customer's desire to remain within budget. In some cases, a used truck may be exactly what the customer is looking for. Either new or used, however, the company can provide assistance with financing where necessary.

Ram commercial vans and trucks are the ultimate tool for any jobsite, the company says, and this is supported by the brand's commitment to expanding their offerings as well as offering ongoing support for their community's favorite models. Whether a customer wishes to obtain and use a Ram 1500, Ram Chassis or even a Ram ProMaster City for the next decade and beyond, they can expect these vehicles to always have access to maintenance and repair services as required. Work trucks are designed specifically for hard use as well, so customers can rest assured that their Ram truck will get the job done and be none the worse for wear.

Any of the trucks available at My Truck Now can be expected to offer enhanced performance in the following fields (to various degrees depending on the model in question): productivity, durability, fuel efficiency and so on. Productivity, for instance, may be measured in how much storage or interior space the truck has and how great a load it can carry during a single trip. This is also why commercial trucks need to be durable ? they often work in rugged conditions and must complete the task at hand without breaking down too easily. My Truck Now says Ram trucks are well known for their ability to push forward in a wide spectrum of environments, from construction sites to farmland and more. Since businesses need to reduce overhead wherever possible, a commercial truck that can do the work without overusing fuel is quite valuable. In a fleet, reducing consumption can limit fuel costs as well as downtime spent refueling by a wide margin.

My Truck Now is true to their name in that they do everything in their power to ensure customers get their trucks with as little delay as possible. In some cases, the majority of the purchase time may be spent simply selecting the truck, which the company is often highly supportive of given that this can be an extremely important choice depending on the needs of the business in question. This, however, is recommended more for customers who are familiar with commercial trucks and their business' specific needs since those purchasing their first truck (or fleet of trucks) may not have the insight required to make the right choice.

Should this be the case, however, customers still need not fear making any costly mistakes. The team at My Truck Now has worked with customers from a wide variety of industries since the company's founding, and they are accustomed to serving their respective needs. As such, in the event a customer finds themselves in need of a recommendation, the company will be happy to oblige.

Alternatively, the company is ready to work with customers who need a completely custom job for their vehicles. If one of the models listed on their website does not quite meet the customer's needs, for instance, they are welcome to contact My Truck Now to talk to their commercial truck specialist. Once they understand what the business needs, the team will identify what options would meet these requirements best and set about creating the perfect work truck.

Customers can browse the company's inventory at their convenience by visiting the My Truck Now website. They can also call the company directly to follow up on any further inquiries.
