Dealing in new sensations - Self Balancing Scooter or ?Hover-Boards?, ?balancescooterwarehouse.com? is going an extra mile to ensure the highest quality scooters for customers as they announced their new top-class products with unmatched offerings and features.

The 2 Wheel Self Balancing Scooter or popularly called ?Hover-Boards? are the new hot-trend around Christmas time and it?s attracting a wide customer base. But in order to benefit from the rising popularity of these new hands-free balance scooters, there are many in the markets, who are selling low quality balance scooters at extremely low prices. To ensure the best quality products is a must-do thing and ?BalanceScooterWarehouse.com? is emerging as the epitome of top-quality hover board providers. As a result, it has rapidly become the one stop shop for high-quality self balancing scooters.

Danny Donorillo, the owner of the company said that their main priority is to focus on providing the high quality, best in class balance scooter to their customers. He said that their efforts have always been towards the same principal. Since the ?hover boards? are high in-demand, there are many people out there creating cheap quality products and selling them at cheap prices and those are the companies that won?t be there when you need them. He said that ?Balance Scooter Warehouse? never compromises with the quality of products for better sales.

Discussing the products, company officials said that they offer the best balance scooters in wide varieties of styles and colors catering to the needs of every age group and all sorts of choices. They said that their self balancing scooter is fitted with the high quality batteries (Samsung and LG) to ensure a safe, better and long lasting performance. They offer a custom carry case to transport the scooter anywhere the customer goes, and it comes free with any balance scooter purchase. Along with this, they provide a complete rubber bumper protector for protection against hits and scratches. Further, they come up with top-quality parts for these scooters to ensure the safety and value-for-money aspects. They are also the first to introduce gen2.0

version with two-speeds on motor.

Danny said that their ultimate goal is customer's satisfaction and safety, this approach is what separates them from others. He added that to ensure that their customers get the best self balancing scooter, they are ready to go an extra mile and that's what they exactly do. That is why, they avoid any balance scooter resellers or middlemen who might forward the low quality products. They visited the best Chinese suppliers, in person, to ensure that the product they are bringing to U.S is the best they could possibly offer. That's why they are confident enough to enter the balance scooter business.

This approach towards providing best to their clients is what is making them the authority in the market and helping to become the reliable and top choice for people to buy balance scooters, retail or wholesale. For more information, visit company website:
