Geosantro is associated with Wurth, a global company based in Germany with locations across the world. Wurth is known for its approach to customer relations and its pursuit of excellence in every facet of its business, and Geosantro is no exception to this. Their new Eshop may have just opened, but Wurth?s reputation precedes the company?s presence in this particular region, meaning every customer can expect to receive the very best customer service from Geosantro as well.

?The Würth Group is the global market leader in the development, production and sale of fastening and assembly materials,? says Wurth. ?It currently consists of over 400 companies in more than 80 countries and has more than 83,000 employees on its payroll. More than 33,000 of these are permanently employed sales representatives. According to the audited annual financial statement, the Würth Group generated total sales of EUR 17.1 billion in the business year 2021. A new record in sales. In the core business, the Würth Line, the product range for craft and industry comprises over 125,000 products: From screws, screw accessories and anchors to tools, chemical-technical products and personal protection equipment. The Allied Companies of the Würth Group, which either operate in business areas adjacent to the core business or in diversified business areas, round off the range by offering products for DIY stores, material for electrical installations, electronic components (e.g. circuit boards) as well as financial services.?

Wurth is a family business and all four million of its customers across the world are considered part of the Wurth family. Human beings are at the centre of the company?s corporate philosophy which is at the core of the Wurth Group?s long-standing support. Wurth was founded in 1945 by Adolf Wurth. The company has since become a worldwide operating trading group, and its Limassol Eshop is one of thousands of expansions across the globe.

The company owes its philosophy to Reinhold Wurth, its current chairman, who possesses a clear business orientation. Geosantro, as a part of the Wurth Group, shares this philosophy, and its Cyprus customers can be sure they will receive the same treatment the company is known for across the world.
