We Buy Atlanta Properties, a company based in Athens, GA, wants to inform everyone that they are ready to buy houses in Atlanta as a way to help divorcing couples. Divorcing couples are able to avoid any conflict and drawn-out arguments by the selling their property fast, allowing them to move on with their lives as quickly as they can. While cash home buyers are often depended on by those who want to stop foreclosure, more people are now opting to sell due to divorce.

Scott Corbett, a representative for We Buy Atlanta Properties, says, ?Going through a divorce is never easy. Even if you?re looking forward to getting a fresh start after the divorce is finalized, you may be dealing today with financial issues with your former spouse, including selling a property that you owned together. Selling to us is almost always always your fastest option. We can close within weeks, and we pay with cash. If your goal is to get this done as quickly as possible, talk to us. Selling to an investor is also the most convenient way to sell your house in a divorce. With us, you never have to show your house, make repairs, deal with real estate agents, or spend time negotiating with potential buyers who often need to get the right appraisal on the property before the bank will even approve the purchase. Instead, we agree on a price and a closing date, and that?s that.?

Divorcing couples have two primary choices when selling a home as part of a divorce. First, they can sell the house on the open market with the help of a real estate agent. Or they can sell to a real estate investor, like We Buy Atlanta Properties. There are pros and cons for both alternatives and it is up to the couples to decide which makes more sense. Selling to an investor offers speed, simplicity and convenience. They have been gaining a lot of experience in working with various divorcing couples sell their house that allowed them to move on with their lives.

For those who want to avoid foreclosure, selling the property to a real estate investor, such as We Buy Atlanta Properties, also makes sense. By selling the house, the former homeowner would be able to pay off the home financing contract fast and thus avoid having a foreclosure record on their credit report. In addition, they may also receive some cash that they may use to start anew. This option is not possible with the conventional way of selling the property through a real estate agent because the process would take too long. Furthermore, it will usually require repairing and cleaning the house before it can be listed. A potential buyer will also need bank approval, which may take weeks or even months.

Thus, a house that is not in a good condition, will likely take a long time to sell. Furthermore, the homeowner will need to spend on having the property repaired and then cleaned or else there would likely be not potential buyers.

We Buy Atlanta Properties is a family-owned and operated Atlanta-based firm that is ready to buy a house in any condition, which means there is no need to spend money on repairs and in cleaning the house. The home seller will also enjoy the advantage of not having to pay any buyer closing costs or real estate commissions, which means they will be receiving the actually amount quoted by the company. And it is possible to close as early as within seven days or in seven months if that is what the home seller prefers. Basically, they will be working around whatever schedule that the Atlanta home wants.
