

HODL Announces HODL Hands NFT Staking On HODLX

July 14, 2022

San Francisco, California - July 14, 2022 -

San Francisco, CA based cryptocurrency company HODL has partnered with artists to bring HODL Hands NFTs to life. These NFTs can be staked on their platform to earn even more money. HODL is more than a token; it is a platform and community, making it easy for anyone to make money by investing in cryptocurrency.

HODL is excited to say that their iconic 10K NFT range is minted on Binance Smart Chain (BSC), and those who are interested can buy 1 to 20 NFTs at just 0.3 BNB each (plus gas fee). Each HODL Hand is made from 6 properties (Stump, Wrist, Palm, Skin and Background) with varying rarity levels. Each property comes with traits at 6 levels of rarity: Common, Uncommon, Rare, Epic, Legendary and Mythical, and their collection uses a 'normal distribution' or 'gaussian curve' model.

HODL Hands can be staked via the HODLX DEX to earn $HODL or $HODLX and will carry incredible utility in the future. The company's plans for utility include exclusive access to a number of play to earn gaming models, boosted APR rates on the HODLX DEX and integration into Texas HODL'em poker.

Adam Roberts, founder and CEO of HODL, says, "We are really excited to debut HODL Hands - an exciting range of new NFTs and the result of our partnership with some truly excellent artists. This is an iconic pairing:

HODL + NFTs. As with everything else we create, we intend for HODL Hands to turn heads in the NFT space, making them a unique asset for anyone who owns one. You can engage in NFT staking to earn HODL/HODLX, access boosted APRs, access play to earn games and more from the get go, and we plan on bringing more features in the future as we expand.?

Buying an NFT, such as a HODL Hand, is very easy. All anyone needs to do is connect their wallet (ensuring that they are on the Binance Smart Chain network) and select between 1 and 20 NFTs to buy. The HODL Hands they receive will be randomly selected from the range of 10,000 unique pieces created by HODL's artists, giving them a chance of grabbing ultra-rare ones which will have a higher value and can be sold at a profit on third-party sites. As long as the user has a wallet with a collectibles function, they will receive the NFTs automatically, without having to do anything else. Those who want to take a look at the HODL Hands NFTs that have been minted can do so on NFTKEY.api on the HODL Hands NFT page, which also displays additional information. This may include their rarity and trade on NFTKEY, among other details.

HODL Hands are minted on the Binance Smart Chain network. While the company initially launched on the Ethereum network, they decided to move to the BSC network so that they could drastically reduce the gas fees on minting and when transferring the HODL Hands. Being on the Binance Smart Chain network also adds extra utility within the HODL ecosystem, including staking, gaming and access to exclusive features.

HODL is a community-driven DeFi project, and the company is committed to revolutionizing the NFT space and is constantly innovating to drive more rewards and value to all holders. HODL is proud to claim that it was the first project to reward its holders with BNB and reflections just for holding and has set the record for the biggest payouts of all time.

At the heart of HODL is a highly-innovative smart contract which captures tax revenues from buys, sells and transfers of the token. The company's sell bot liquifies these tokens converting them into BNB and then places the funds into the reward pool. By holding HODL, users can collect their share of the reward pool every 7-days and will be sent reflections throughout.

Those who want to learn more about HODL, HODL Hands or the range of other services they offer, should visit their official website at: <https://hodltoken.net/>.
