July 13, 2022 - PRESSADVANTAGE -

UK-based PSS International Removals is pleased to announce that they have opened a new Manchester office. This is great news for Manchester-based customers as they will receive more support from their new local office when they move overseas. This announcement comes on the back of a surge in interest from Manchester residents who are looking to move to Spain, Australia, New Zealand, Canada, the USA and other international locations. PSS International Removals is widely respected for the sheer quality of service they provide, but the company understands that certain regions may require more attention or support as events unfold. In recent months, the company has noted one such sign of change centring in Greater Manchester: demand has risen for moving overseas. With such a high volume of people and belongings set to move from Manchester, PSS is looking to improve the removal service for customers in the North West region.

A customer in Manchester has a great deal of flexibility in deciding how their move will take place when they work with PSS International Removals. For instance, given that many will have an eye on their budget during this period, customers are being afforded the opportunity to designate which specific services they would like from PSS, such as a sea freight removal service.

PSS provide a full international export standard pack and wrap service. The company highly recommends this service for household removals, especially for delicate and fragile items, as it will ensure maximum protection. Export quality boxes, cartons and packing materials are also provided. Customers can also obtain custom wood casing or crates, along with professional antique wrapping where required.

Customers who wish to obtain an accurate quotation before making any commitments are welcome to request an evaluation from PSS International Removals. Upon learning of the customer's interest, the company will dispatch one of their International Removals Surveyors to visit the home in question, discuss and assess the customer's needs and look over the volume of household goods that will be transported. If this is not possible, the company can also arrange a video survey remotely and schedule a time that fits you. Both types of surveys are completely free.

People often think moving overseas is a complex process, however, PSS has helped customers move for 40 years and is well-versed in providing an outstanding removal service. PSS provide assistance with documentation, customs clearance and provide storage both in and outside the UK if necessary. PSS International Removals adds that customers will be assigned a dedicated Move Manager to help with every aspect of their move.

Customers are invited to express their interest in moving overseas when they get in touch with the PSS International Removals Manchester office. The company looks forward to helping them achieve their dream of resettling abroad and has an expert team in place to make the move easy.

More information on moving overseas from Manchester can be found on the company's official website. They can also be contacted via phone or email.
