Atlanta, Georgia - July 15, 2022 - PRESSADVANTAGE -

Atlanta, GA based Kenneth S. Nugent, P.C. is reaching out to the wider community to explain the basics of injury law. The Atlanta personal injury lawyer has been trusted by thousands of clients involved in car accidents, motorcycle wrecks and 18 wheeler accidents all across the state of Georgia, and they strongly believe that clients can only make the best decisions regarding their cases when they are fully informed of all context and outcomes.

Tim Derrickson of Kenneth S. Nugent, P.C. says, "If you have been injured due to the negligent actions of another, the unfortunate truth is that your life will be disrupted. The disruption may be temporary or it may be permanent, but either way, you as the injured party are entitled to medical care and compensation for your injuries. The responsible party has specific obligations to you regarding this injury, obligations that are required by law, and this can help you in major ways."

Kenneth S. Nugent, P.C. recommends that anyone who has been injured due to the fault of another immediately seek the counsel of a reliable law firm. Good injury lawyers can quickly review the case and determine what sort of compensation and care the injured party is entitled to. While insurance companies are perfectly aware that they have certain obligations to the injured party, most of the public is unaware of these obligations, and insurers therefore rely on the public's lack of knowledge to deny claims.

To counteract this, anyone who has been injured should immediately hire a professional law firm. An experienced accident attorney, like those found at the Law Offices of Ken Nugent, will be able to protect the injured party's rights and demand that the insurer comply with the law and provide compensation as deserved.

Derrickson says, "When you or a loved one has been in an accident, you are dealing with enough stress as it is. Trying to recover while worrying about lost income, unpaid bills and the fate of your family is not possible, and additional stress may lead to the healing process getting drawn out beyond what is strictly necessary. As an injured person, you should be able to dedicate your time and thoughts to recovery and nothing else, and that's where we come in."

In cases of personal injury or accidents, severity may vary. In certain situations, the injury may be relatively simple, such as whiplash, but it can be as severe as broken bones and other forms of trauma. Accidents can also lead to the death of the victim. Derrickson says, "If you or your loved one has been injured or harmed due to the negligence of someone else, the first thing you should do is seek medical attention, and then seek legal counsel right after that. If you get in touch with us, we will send someone to you personally within 48 hours and advise you of your legal rights." Notably, even the minor trauma caused by whiplash and similar events can have consequences, so they should not be dismissed out of hand. A lawyer should be consulted to determine whether they contribute to a loss of quality of life and so on.

The attorneys at Kenneth S. Nugent, P.C. are dedicated to their clients and will go the distance to make sure injury claims are handled quickly and professionally to allow them to focus on their recovery.
