Simplified Marketer, a business in Gilbert, AZ, has released a free white paper on how to get affordable professional videos that businesses can use for marketing. The paper is designed to show business people how they can have professional videos created at a very small price. Full details are available on <https://simplifiedmarketer.clickfunnels.com/lm-video>.

"We want to show people how they can have professional videos made for the price of a cup of coffee at Starbucks," says Bill Ross from Simplified Marketer. "It really can be that affordable to have a high quality video made, and the effects of such a video are tremendous. Getting a huge return on investment, therefore, is easily done."

Video marketing is becoming critical in today's world. As a result, small businesses need videos if they want to stay afloat in the highly competitive market. Traditionally, however, these types of services have been incredibly expensive. Simplified Marketer shows them that it doesn't need to be that way.

The report that highlights all the details of how to obtain affordable yet high quality videos can be downloaded for free from the company's website. Meanwhile, Simplified Marketer also continues to offer affordable marketing services to local businesses. These services include online reputation building, lead generation, social engagement and marketing automation.

The services the company has delivered have been very positively received by their many clients. "Simplified Marketer has delivered some of the most advanced coding work available," says Bruce Brimacombe, CEO from GOe3. "I am thrilled SM and GOe3 will be working together creating an entirely new industry."

The business, as can be seen on <http://simplifiedmarketer.com/>, has also released a number of important statistics on small businesses and online engagement, which help demonstrate why it is so important to make use of video marketing. Sixty-six percent of small businesses are now increasing the money they spend on digital marketing and 50% will implement and use automated marketing by the end of this year. The company wants to be at the forefront of these developments, helping small businesses to make their mark in the highly competitive online world. They encourage everyone to download their free white paper to get started.
