November 16, 2015 - PRESSADVANTAGE -

Mary Morrissey's Dream Builder program claims to be designed for spiritually minded professionals who are ready to define what they want in life and dissolve fear, doubt and worry to achieve it. This has caught the attention of ProfitMoreDaily.com's Stan Stevenson, prompting an investigative review.

Our Dream Builder review shows that it is a simple system that helps you discover your dream and the confidence you require to go after it with inner peace and joy. Divided into 12 weeks, it is a proven, 90-day process that will take you from your point of stagnation to a free, fulfilled and confident level, reports Stevenson. If you're not stepping out of your way to do what you want due to worry, guilt, fear or negative thinking or you're frustrated because you don't seem to be making progress with your dream, this program will help you. Mary is a proven guide and her program has been used by hundreds of people already seeing great results.

In the first week of The Dream Builder, people learn how to use dream-building principles; the second is where they learn to build their dream by using the two parts of their mind; week 3 helps them determine if the dream is worthy of them; the fourth week focuses on the uncomfortable nature of the comfort zone and how people can get out of it; week five helps them learn how to build their dream through passion, persistence and self-belief.

In week 6, people learn how to handle fear that can choke their dream; week 7 is all about overcoming obstacles; week 8 focuses on attract the right resources to make the dream a reality; breaking free from the past to focus on the dream happens in week 9; week 10 includes a 5-step thinking process for sourcing solutions for one's problems; week 11 and 12 of The Dream Builder teaches users how to transform breakdowns into breakthroughs and how to anchor their dreams for better results.

The program is cheap when you consider the amazing long-term benefits you will get from it. It can easily be used alongside other coaching programs and you get instance access to it. It also comes with Live Q&A Group Coaching Sessions on a weekly basis, says Stevenson. If you want to follow a proven program by a proven teacher, we highly recommend you jump in. You can pay for the program in 4 installments of $149 each, making it more affordable. The added Facebook group adds onto the community aspect, which will keep you engaged and push you along.?

?The Dream Builder is a simple but proven system to unlock your life?s Spiritual Side of Success. If you?re dissatisfied with life but you can?t figure out what and how to change or constantly feel unsettled due to uncertainties on the steps you need to take, the program is good for you. If you can dedicate just a few hours a week for 12 weeks to a process that will change your life forever, then this program is for you. In a nutshell, it gives you the chance to live the life you want and also make the difference in the world. We highly recommend Mary Morrissey and her program. It has received massive praise from many experts.?
