July 29, 2022

London, England - July 29, 2022 - PRESSADVANTAGE -

Aylesbury, Buckinghamshire based SEO agency Stratton Digital is pleased to announce that they have won the Greater London Enterprise Awards for Best Data Driven SEO Experts 2022. Founded in 2017, Stratton Digital focuses on delivering high quality SEO campaigns based on factual data that produces a solid ROI for their clients around the world.

The Greater London Enterprise Awards is presented by SME News and is dedicated to celebrating the multitude of innovative and vibrant business industries that thrive in the UK's capital city. In its 6th implementation in 2022, the Greater London Enterprise Awards are judged purely on merit. SME News' in-house research team carefully analyses all the information that is available both online and in the public domain, along with all the materials supplied by the nominees. They award companies based on their reputation, commitment, innovation, determination and contribution to their industry.

As the name implies, their Best Data Driven Agency SEO Expert 2022 Award is awarded to a company that provides high quality, data driven SEO services for its clients. Stratton Digital founder Phil Roskams says, "Data driven SEO campaigns have always been and always will be a core part of how we deliver incredible SEO results, and the whole team at Stratton Digital consider it an honour to be recognised as one of the best data-driven SEO agencies."

He continues, "I founded Stratton Digital because I saw that the industry is flooded by hundreds, if not thousands of so-called SEO agencies that had no real clue what they are doing. They had no idea how to create SEO campaigns that would deliver results, and there was an obvious growing trend of companies that were unhappy with the results they were receiving from their SEO providers. Stratton Digital was meant to provide the opposite: high quality, data driven SEO services that provided the results you wanted. Today, we are pleased to be able to say that we have our SEO deliverables down to a fine art, and all of our campaigns are based on real, live data. This allows us to deliver the results our clients want: a great ROI."

The range of services provided by Stratton Digital is expansive in nature. The company provides Local SEO, International SEO, eCommerce SEO, Technical SEO, Link Building and Reputation Management services, among others. Their team has established themselves as a provider of excellent digital services, earning a stellar 5-Star rating on their Google platform. L. Kersey writes in their review, "Great agency for local SEO. We have seen excellent results for our dental practice. Communication is really good as well."

In another review that can be found on the company's website, C. Herald praises the work of Phil Roskam and his team, writing, "As a Sr. Software Engineer, I needed help optimising my websites and turned to Phil. I hired Phil and his firm to get me ranked and increase my web search traffic and get my phone ringing again. Phil did an amazing job and kept his promise. I am speechless and very thankful that I found Phil."
