Chicago Website Design SEO Company Is Urging Local Businesses To Prepare For Google Algorithm Updates

August 11, 2022

Chicago, Illinois - August 11, 2022 -
Chicago Website Design SEO Company, or CWDSC, is one of the oldest and most successful internet marketing firms in Chicago, Illinois. The company?s CEO Jack Lombardi is urging local small business owners and entrepreneurs to find out more about its range of digital marketing services and how the agency can help them become the top players in their respective industries.

CWDSC has been at the forefront of conceptualizing and implementing creative and effective keyword-based digital marketing strategies for more than a decade. The company?s expert services have been well received by its clients in the Chicago Metro area. Its Google My Business page sits at a perfect 5.0 out of 5.0 rating from 43 reviews. The same appreciation of its services is reflected in its perfect Yelp score of 5.0 from 18 customer reviews.

The company?s full range of digital marketing services includes competition analysis, keyword analysis, website design including projects for personal portfolios, contractors, professionals, eCommerce stores, and more, website revamps, website hosting, SEO services including Google listing SEO, local SEO, reputation management, Yelp listing optimization, search engine marketing, product feed optimization, press release optimization, and backlinking services, client conversion, lead generation, AdWords, YouTube Ads, programmatic ads, Google My Business SEO, Etsy Product SEO, and more.

Jack Lombardi talks about what makes the company?s approach to SEO unique by saying, ?Search Engine Optimization is a cat and mouse game of SEO experts always trying to keep up with Google?s constant updates to its proprietary, and somewhat mysterious, algorithm. With every major algorithm update that goes live, every 6 months or so, they tweak it so that it performs marginally better from the user?s perspective. The trend, for the last few years, has been to promote websites that match the user?s search intent. For a local business, it can be tricky to tailor the content on its website to fulfill this requirement to please the almighty algorithm. It can often mean a complete content upheaval. Most local businesses generally already struggle to compete with bigger players in their industry who can afford to throw around large sums of money at other digital advertising methods such as PPC advertising. To level the playing field, you need an experienced SEO agency on your side that is confident in its approach. We have been serving Chicago businesses for over a decade and have seen our clients? online businesses succeed despite countless algorithm updates. So, call us today and let us set you up with the same unparalleled SEO services that have made many Windy City business owners amazingly successful.?

CWDSC has also garnered a lot of goodwill from local business owners who commend them on their honesty and integrity. For example, one of the latest reviews of the Chicago digital marketing company?s services on its Google My Business page is from the people behind the film industry reviews and interviews website Movies and Shakers. The review talks about how the creators of the website scheduled a 15-minute call with CWDSC just for it to turn into an hour-long meeting where the company?s SEO expert analyzed the website?s unique growth challenges. At the end of the meeting, the reviewer says, the SEO expert at CWDSC was honest enough to admit that paying its services was not the best use for the client?s resources at that moment. This interaction is emblematic of CWDSC?s dedication to running a business that primarily looks out for the benefit of its clients. It is one of the many reasons why CWDSC has successfully managed to last in the cutthroat digital marketing industry for over a decade.
