Owner and founder of Reel Time Fishing Toby Wyatt says, ?We offer walleye fishing year round, but the best time for them is early spring through late summer. Reel Time Fishing operates boats on the Snake and Columbia Rivers just dedicated for walleye fishing. Both of these rivers are chocked full of walleye, ranging in size from 1 to 17 pounds, and we would be glad to give you a guided fishing tour.?

The walleye is the largest member of the perch family. They grow to more than 30 inches, live to seven or eight years old, weigh 12-15 pounds and make for excellent fishing. According to Reel Time Fishing, walleye spawn in the Spring and Fall and can be found in shallow flats during that time. In the summer, they can be found in deeper water near points of sharp ledges and bars. Reel Time Fishing explains that walleye have better vision under low light conditions, which makes early mornings or late evenings best for fishing.

Reel Time Fishing?s expert guides use a variety of techniques to target walleye. During cold water conditions in the winter and early spring, they will use a vertical jig (with one ounce jig heads) with hoochies and worms. When the water begins to warm up, the fish will begin to move into shallower water where trolling deep-diving crankbaits is the key to success. As the season progresses, Reel Time Fishing?s guides then follow the fish back into the deep water by trolling worms with bottom bouncers. According to the company, this method produces the best outcomes during warm water conditions.

Wyatt says, ?Catching walleye can be a bit challenging as they tend to move a lot and change what they want to eat, but if you are fishing with us, you have no need to worry. Our guided tours are here to make sure the learning curve is easy to master for anyone interested in fishing for walleye! Get in touch with us today and reserve your fishing adventure!?

The services provided by Reel Time Fishing have earned them a near-perfect rating from over 80 reviews on the Google platform. Emily F. writes, ?Toby and his crew were amazing for our all-day salmon fishing trip on the Clearwater. He was so knowledgeable and fun ? really putting in the work to make sure that we got into some fish! It was a fabulous experience that I would highly suggest to anyone.?

Hunter C. also says, ?Awesome sturgeon fishing experience on the Snake river south of Clarkston. Jim, our guide, was a true pro. Not only was he fun to talk to and be around, he clearly knows his stuff and really worked hard to put us on fish. We caught a 6-foot fish and another in the 8.5-foot range, but even if we hadn't been successful, it still would have been a wonderful day. I would highly recommend this outfit and would love to go again. Follow the recommendations on the website and take appropriate gear. If we had not had the right raingear, footwear, etc., it could have been a very long day, as there was rain, wind and all of the other stuff you can experience in that part of the world.?

In addition to Pasco, Reel Time Fishing also operates a guided walleye fishing service in numerous cities across the Northwest United States. This includes Lewiston, ID; Clarkston, WA; Lyons Ferry, WA; Richland, WA; Pasco, WA; Kennewick, WA; Umatilla, OR; Biggs Junction, OR; Dalles, OR; Cascade Locks, OR; Portland, OR; and Maryhill State Park, WA.
