They want to emphasize that chiropractic care can help a person gain better wellness in four ways: restoration of health; restoration of body communication; correction of subluxations; and restoration of spinal function. Furthermore, chiropractic care can reduce: stress, fatigue, anxiety, and insomnia. Chiropractic care can also improve: mental focus, sleep, well-being; and happiness. Overall, it is important to note that if a patient is suffering from a sickness, the issue may likely be traced back to the spine.

The chiropractic care provided by a holistic chiropractor Beverly Hills residents can depend on may be used to restore body communication because it may be able to correct misalignments in the spine. Such misalignments often impede communication and hamper the capability of the brain to coordinate balance in the body?s functions. By restoring the spine?s alignment, chiropractic care can get rid of such interference to restore communication between the body and the brain. And because chiropractic care involves the correction of spinal misalignment, it may help in bringing back proper spinal function. There are three main functions of the spine, which are: enabling of flexible motion; provision of structural support and balance to keep an upright posture; and protection of the spinal cord, nerve roots, and several internal organs.
