Slavin Home Improvements, a roofing contractor based in Manchester, CT that serves Central Connecticut, has received another highly positive review from a very satisfied customer. The company serves as an all-around roofing contractor that is capable of providing various kinds of roofing and gutter services in Manchester and other places in Central Connecticut. They provide roofing and replacement services, gutter repair and replacement services, and siding repair and installation services. In the mentioned customer review, the customer, Jo-Ann H, was ecstatic about the siding used for their home remodeling project.

In addition to being a locally-owned and -operated roofing contractor serving Manchester and Glastonbury, Slavin Home Improvements also provides its services to various cities and towns in the neighboring areas in Connecticut, including Glastonbury, Tolland, West Hartford, Ellington, East Hartford, South Windsor, Vernon, Farmington, Simsbury, Avon, Stafford Springs, Windsor, Burlington, Enfield, Hebron, Windsor Locks, Marlborough, Andover, Colchester, Amston, Middletown, Columbia, Bristol, Newington, New Britain, Berlin, and Southington.

In the above-mentioned Slavin Home Improvements customer review, Jo-Ann H gave them a five-star rating and said, "Zak started off our experience on the right foot, and the service kept getting better and better as we progressed through the remodel. He and his crew were prompt, personable, and had top-notch communication. He took the time to explain all of our options for the siding and made suggestions throughout the project on things he thought would complement our house. At no time did he try to "upsell" it, and provided a detailed, emailed quote within 48 hours of stopping by that was superior to all the other offers previous companies provided. Best of all, our siding looks AWESOME! In a short week, Zak and Slavin Home Improvements increased our home's curb appeal 100%. Can't wait to use them in the fall for our deck remodel!"

One way that they are able to make sure that they are providing high-quality roofing or siding, is that they mostly source their materials from two leading manufacturers of roofing materials, particularly Owens Corning and GAF. Owens Corning shingles have been noted to be the best with regards to durability, which is a result of their SureNail Technology. This particular technology can help in avoiding installation errors and early roof problems. And the Owens Corning shingles have unique colors, such as Aged Copper, Colonial Slate, and more. Meanwhile, GAF manufactures Timberline HD shingles, which combine performance, appearance, and quality. These HD shingles provide a realistic feel to the roof and every GAF shingle has a number of layers to make sure that it will be long-lasting and be able to withstand the harsh elements from the weather and the sun.

This roofing contractor can also offer gutter repair, gutter installation, and gutter protection services. They will ensure that the roof and gutter system provided has aesthetic appeal and that there would be no leaks. They can also ensure that the gutter system will not freeze during heavy snowfalls. They provide seamless gutter installation and source their gutters from Harvey, a trusted manufacturer of gutter systems. They also offer gutter protection to help prevent the gutters from being clogged by leaves and debris. They have been offering gutter protection systems for homes in Manchester and Glastonbury for several years.

Started in 2011, Slavin Home Improvements has developed into an all-around roofing contractor that can complete roofing and siding projects successfully. They also have the necessary insurance and license to provide their services in the state of Connecticut. Zak Slavin, who founded the business, considers the integrity, hard work, and honesty of his team of roofing professionals as the key reasons for their success. They always do their best with the idea that they consider every home that they are working on as their own. And they believe that this is one of the big reasons why customers have been very satisfied with the service they have received.
