August 23, 2022 -

Alex Mandry Legal Group is helping Queensland families, that are going through once-in-a-lifetime upheavals, amicably settle their differences to get the best outcome for themselves, their children, and their financial futures.

The Sunshine Coast family law firm is led by managing partner and nationally accredited mediator, Sandra Sinclair, who founded it in June 2019. Today she has assembled a team that has a combined experience of over 70 years in the legal field. The firm?s family law services include practice areas such as divorce & separation, property settlement, children?s issues, child support, financial agreements, de-facto relationships, spousal maintenance, wills, and more. The law firm has built a reputation for coming up with empathetic solutions to family matters using out-of-the-box solutions that aim to preserve the agency of the separating couple and those dependent on them.

Sandra Sinclair received a Bachelor of Laws from Flinders University in 1997 and has a Graduate Diploma in Legal Practice from the University of South Australia. She is also an Accredited Mental Health First Aider with Mental Health First Aid Australia. She worked as an Independent Children?s Lawyer for several years and also has extensive experience with the domestic violence courts and child safety matters.

Her legal expertise and family law acumen have been lauded by several of her clients from all over Queensland. Readers can find many testimonials online that vouch for her success in all matters of family law. For example, this 5-star review on the law firm?s Google listing says that she is ?someone who you can trust, really knows her stuff and works so hard for you.? The Sunshine Coast family law firm has a perfect rating of 5.0 out of 5.0 from almost 20 reviews on Google.

On its website, Alex Mandry Legal Group says that it "seeks holistic solutions that are financially and emotionally better for you and your family." To explain this mission statement, Sandra Sinclair, says, ?Together, the law professionals at Alex Mandry Legal Group have over 40 years of experience in resolving separation and divorce issues. We have worked with hundreds of families and couples who have grown apart with time and are seeking a better life for themselves and who also want to protect the well-being of their children and their assets from the relationship. Having been firsthand witnesses to many domestic separations, we know exactly how emotionally charged and vitriolic the proceedings can get. Since people enter relationships with an expectation of love and mutual understanding, when their hopes are not met and, even worse, when they feel betrayed by their significant others, instead of wanting to find a path forward in a civil manner, they may want to hurt or financially cripple those they once trusted. That is why we urge families to take the time to negotiate and arrive at a resolution that benefits everyone. We will help our clients retain the assets that are important to them. We also understand that since young ones are involved, care has to be taken to not deprive them of the resources they will need to succeed in life. We give our clients sensible advice regarding their wards, parenting arrangements, and domestic violence concerns, and point them to support agencies that can work with them. We do everything that we can to support and assist our clients through their most difficult times and going to court is always our last recommendation.?

Alex Mandry Legal Group is associated with the Law Council of Australia, Australasian Legal Practice Management Association, Resolution Institute, SCLA (Sunshine Coast Law Association), Queensland Law Society, and FLPA (Family Law Practitioners Association). Apart from all aspects of family law, the law firm also offers legal advice in wills & estate law, business law, criminal law, mediation law, defamation law, aged care abuse & neglect, disability discrimination, migration, and personal injury law.
