London, UK ? Keeping a tidy and organised home, but making the most of the available space in a bedroom is vitally important. In order to help London residents, 4-Wardrobe (www.4-wardrobe.co.uk) has just published a new blog post authored by Michael Frick entitled 'How Can Installing Fitted Wardrobes Help You To Maximise Your Space?'.

The article discusses about how 'fitted wardrobes are built into the walls of a room, they tend to run both floor-to-ceiling and wall-to-wall. When this is combined with the removal of the extraneous material that invariably accompanies regular wardrobes, the end result is a huge boost in the area available for storing possessions'.

'The task is already quite challenging in and of itself,' stated Michael. 'And when one begins to account for other external factors ? irregularly shaped rooms and sloped ceilings, to name just two of many ? the level of difficulty can be greatly magnified.'

The article also discusses how 'without an effective storage solution, the natural accumulation of possessions over time can make even the largest rooms begin to feel small and constricted. Properly utilising the space available is key in ensuring that this is mitigated as much as possible. Opting for bespoke fitted wardrobes over the standard off-the-shelf alternatives can really help put the space to work, eliminating clutter and creating a clean and calm living space'.
