Criminal Defense Attorney In Orange County CA Offers Services To Help People Address DUI Charges

November 20, 2015

November 20, 2015 -

The Law Offices of Grant Bettencourt, based in Orange, CA, has announced that they are offering their services to help people respond to Driving Under the Influence (DUI) charges, as well as other areas of the law. Statistically, more DUIs happen during this time of year, and the law office wants to make sure people are aware that help is out there for them. They point to the many Yelp reviews left about their legal services, which have helped people in very complex legal issues.

"I don't solely deal with DUIs, but I always see an increase in these types of cases during the holidays," says Grant Bettencourt. "I have had many successful DUI cases dismissed, as well as drug, felony and misdemeanor cases. My goal is to make sure people get the best legal representation they can have. I am so happy to see that my clients have been appreciative of the work I have been able to do for them over the years."

Clients of The Law Offices of Grant Bettencourt have mentioned that Grant seems to be able to do the impossible. They feel he is truly on their side and will fight for them as hard as he possibly can until their case is resolved. This has also been demonstrated in the fact that he has helped in getting serious charges dropped, without any court appearances. His extensive knowledge and experience in criminal defense law in California is a great benefit for everyone who has brought their trust and confidence to his firm.

"I was facing serious criminal charges for the first time in my life and the stress was literally killing me," says one satisfied client. "There was actually a chance that my charges would become felony charges, meaning that, if convicted, I would go to jail for quite some time. Thanks to Mr. Bettencourt, however, my charges were dropped and I didn't even have to appear in court. I don't think I have ever hugged my children as hard as I did on the day I found out."

The client testimonials about the Orange County law firm speak for themselves. People are truly appreciative and grateful their lives were dramatically improved and even saved from what could have been a more serious outcome. Anyone requiring legal assistance for potential criminal charges is encouraged to contact Grant as soon as possible.
