Industrial3D Releases 2022 Demo Reel

November 09, 2022

November 09, 2022 -
Tulsa, OK: The 3D production company Industrial3D announced its 2022 demo reel. As a new year brings new clients, ideas and growth in 3D production, a new reel is necessary. In corresponding with Industrial3D?s new rebranding, it is worth announcing a new 2022 demo reel.

Industrial3D was founded in 1995 as an animation company for the oil and gas industry. As a hobby, I3D's founder Beau Brown animated standard processes and equipment associated with oil and gas production. In 1995, I3D became an animation & design studio, now serving companies around the country.

With each year comes a new group of clients, marketing, products, and media production. The progress of each year can be seen quickly in a demo reel. It evolves, changes, and evokes emotion as I3D displays the incredible new work for amazing companies. Privileged to be working with top-notch industrial companies needing immersive media design, product models and animated video production ? this new reel displays a snippet of Industrial3D?s work.

Industrial3D's reel will show a variety of clips showing fluid animations, valve installations, transportation video production, 3D simulated parts, immersive technology, product explainer videos and much more.
