Towson Roofing Pros is a Baltimore County, Maryland contractor that has been faithfully serving the roof repair needs of home and business owners in its area for many years now. This includes having experienced crews that do high-quality roofing work and having a support team in place that excels at customer service.

The company is also known for providing its customers with many roof replacement options. Among those choices are raised seam metal roofing panels. A roof covering option that a company representative acknowledged was gaining in popularity throughout the Baltimore area. He stated that the reason for this is all the benefits that metal roofing panels offer to those that choose to have them put down during a new roof installation or roof replacement project.

According to the company representative of this respected residential and commercial roofer, the appeal of someone installing metal roofing panels starts with how good they look upon a house. These panels tend to make homes and commercial buildings with sloped roofs stand out from those around them. Further enhancing this is the fact that a home or business owner will have several colors of these highly decorative roofing panels to choose from. He also pointed out that metal roofing panels are very durable. They are deemed to be more durable because they hold up much better under adverse weather conditions such as snow and ice than many other types of roof coverings. It was added by him that metal roofing panels are also almost leakproof. That's because they are seamed together above the roof water runoff line. So even if the seams come apart after many years it's hard for a leak to form. Adding to these special roofing panels ability to resist leaking is that their smooth surfaces shed snow and water much more easily than more coarse shingles do.

The company representative says that for those who do not prefer to have metal roofing panels installed when having a sloped roof covering replaced, they have many other roof covering options to choose from. This includes such materials as traditional shingles, more decorative architectural shingles, and highly durable composite shingles which are nearly indestructible. He says that their experienced techs that perform roof inspections are always willing to discuss the pros and cons of each type of roof covering when they meet with a customer to discuss their roof replacement project.

Those that have had metal roofs or other types of roofing material installed during a roof replacement job often leave 5-star reviews of their experience working with Towson Roofing Pros. Callum Gibbs stated, "My house in Baltimore County's Phoenix neighborhood really needed a new roof. I was nervous about what it would cost for new shingles and didn't quite know what I was looking for. Calling Towson Roofing Pros was a great decision. They had worked on several houses in Phoenix, and they had a good answer to every question that I had. Their reputation around Baltimore was positive. The new roof they installed looks fantastic and I honestly believe that they are the best roofers near me." Thomas Sharp proclaimed, "The crew was professional and cleaned up afterward as if they were never there. Bryce, my POC, took the time to explain everything dealing with the process which was helpful since we never had a roof installed before. He was very attentive and responsive from the beginning until the end. I would definitely use them again in the future and I highly recommend Towson Roofing Pros to anyone needing roofing and exterior work done."

The company representative also talked about some of the other reasons Baltimore County home and business owners should check them out when choosing a roofer. Among the most important of which is the company is locally owned and operated and its employees care about the community they live and work in. The company is also highly rated on Google, Facebook, and even on such business watchdog sites as Yelp. They are also fully licensed and insured and offer free roof quotes to home and business owners that need flat or sloped roof repairs. He stated that for more information they can be easily contacted by phone, email, or through the use of the form provided on their website.
