

McHenry Roofing Building a Solid Reputation for Flat Roof Repair in Baltimore Md

September 30, 2022

BALTIMORE, MD - September 30, 2022 -
McHenry Roofing is a contractor that has been taking care of the roofing needs of those in the Baltimore area for many years now. They are a popular roof repair choice because they do a wide variety of residential and commercial roof repairs. That includes being one of the most skilled and experienced flat roof repair in Baltimore MD specialists. It?s a type of roofing task that the company looks to continue its excellent reputation for flat roof work by continuously keeping tabs on the latest flat roof materials and installation techniques that enter the marketplace.

The company owner, Joseph Conley, says, ?Baltimore is no different than many northeast coastal cities that are dotted with row homes, warehouses, and commercial buildings with flat roofs. This is not the type of roof that a home or business owner wants just any old roofing professional to do a repair or roof installation on. That?s because it takes experience and a special skill set to get flat roof jobs to turn out 100% watertight and have them last well into the future.?

Customers that have had flat roof installation work performed for them by McHenry Roofing often leave glowing reviews regarding those jobs. Phyllis Woods stated in her 5-star review, ?There are plenty of roofers near me, but I got the best price quote from McHenry Roofing. They made sure to give me a high-quality roof warranty and even took before and after photos to show what they did, which I really appreciate. When looking for a Baltimore roofing company, I recommend McHenry Roofing.? Jessica Vance proclaimed, ?McHenry Roofing was professional from start to finish. Recently had a roof replacement completed on our Baltimore City rowhome. The contractor was honest and upfront about every aspect of the job. The roofers were pleasant, communicative, and trustworthy, making them an excellent team to entrust with such a vital task as our roof. We are very happy with our new roof and would call McHenry Roofing for any future projects and friend/family referrals.?

Conley also noted that flat roof installation and repair work is not the only types of roofing jobs that his techs are very proficient at. They also perform many different types of sloped roof repairs that have customers similarly praising this Baltimore roofing contractor. Towson, Maryland?s Craig Norman wrote, ?McHenry Roofing installed a new shingled roof on our home in Baltimore County. They also installed new skylights and gutters. They did a fantastic job and were very professional. We highly recommend them for your roofing needs.?

The company owner went on to say that they approach every roof repair or installation the very same way. That?s by doing the highest quality work and using only top-rated roofing materials. He also is proud of the way his staff and techs always treat their customers with the utmost respect. Under most circumstances, they can get a customer an estimate for a roof repair or installation in under 24 hours and they make sure their estimates are thorough and accurate, so they tend not to leave any surprises for home and business customers when they are presented with the final bill.

The company owner says that some other traits set them apart from their competition in Baltimore too. Among those is the fact this locally owned and operated company offers free roof repair consultations and is fully licensed and insured. As was mentioned in one of the above reviews, the company likes to stand behind its work and that?s why they provide some of the best warranties for roofing projects that can be found in the Baltimore County area. He said it?s also not unusual for him to show up at a job site and the bigger roof repairs and installations that they do are always supervised by an onsite project manager. Prompt and reliable work has always been a hallmark of the company too.
