

Intelligent Design Solar Announces Tucson Solar Initiative

March 18, 2015

March 18, 2015 - PRESSADVANTAGE -

Intelligent Design Solar, a known marketed brand for solar panels in the Tucson area, has announced their latest initiative as a fully operational solar service. The organization has existed for quite some time and is launching the Intelligent Design Solar company as a means to expand their current role in the solar industry. This has been well met by the local community as reflected by client testimonials that can be viewed from the Intelligent Design Solar website.

Currently the goal of Intelligent Design Solar is to market Tucson Solar panels within the city. However, the company has also been providing their services to areas outside of Tucson as well. Locations such as Benson, Douglas, Florence, Rio Rico, Marana, Green Valley, and Vail, as well as many others can contact the company for solar installation. A list of all the areas being serviced at the moment can be seen on the company website and they urge potential new customers to call if they live outside of these zones but wish to take advantage of their services and are wondering if their town may also be added to the list.

Part of the benefits offered through Intelligent Design Solar, as opposed to other brands, is their free home energy audit which helps to inform customers of their current energy usage, and how much they could ultimately save by switching to solar panels. The goal is to eliminate your utility bill all together. They also provide interest-free finance for up to five years after purchase OR the company guarantees that all new users will be able to own a solar power system for less than their current electric bill. Intelligent Design Solar has said the following in regards to the cost of their systems and how it can save money for those who invest in them:

"You'll be surprised as how little it really takes to install solar power Tucson in your home or business space. And when you see the long-term savings, you'll quickly realize that your solar panels will pay for themselves in no time. Make that small investment now and reap the rewards forever."

Visiting <http://www.solarpanelstucsonaz.com/> provides further insight into the company's history with client reviews, the company's portfolio, and various other information on the services offered. This solar energy equipment provider offers a $1000 bonus to existing clients when they refer a friend who then buys a system; this deal can be taken advantage of more than one time so long as each referral leads to somebody new making a purchase. The company offers a free estimate and information on switching from standard electricity to solar energy and promotes the idea that using the sun as a sustainable source of power can benefit the world as a whole.

For questions and concerns regarding this press release, or for more information on Intelligent Design Solar, please use the following contact information:

Company Name: Intelligent Design Solar

Contact Name: Andrew Dobbins

Phone Number: 1 (520)-297-6527

E-mail Address: info@solarpanelstucsonaz.com

Mailing Address: 2200 W. La Osa Street, Suite 100, Tucson AZ 85705

###

Powered by PressAdvantage.com