iCleaners, a cleaning services Hamilton, ON, Canada, company has been in business for over six years. In this time, they have become an industry leader and one of the most respected cleaning companies in the area due to their fantastic services and innovative solutions. They are proud to announce that they are now also committed to going green by offering eco-friendly cleaning solutions to their customers.

"For a long time we have wondered how we could be so committed to delivering clean homes and offices while turning the planet into a dirty place," says Chris from iCleaners. "We are so happy, therefore, that we now have completely eco-friendly cleaning solutions in place as well. We are sure that our clients will be just as excited about this, not in the least because it makes them look good as well."

Research has shown that consumers are becoming increasingly critical and demanding of the businesses they work with and that they are always looking for solutions that have a lower environmental impact. As a result, iCleaners has already seen an increase in domestic customers. However, they have also noticed that the businesses for which they deliver commercial cleaning Hamilton services are increasing their customer database by showing they are equally committed to going green.

Clients have been very positive about the work that the company does. "The quality of their work and the professionalism of their staff is outstanding," says Dr. T. Subramanian. "iCleaners consistently responds immediately to all our requirements and the special needs of my facility. They are always willing to work closely with us to resolve any issues or problems that may arise. I would not hesitate to recommend iCleaners to other medical organizations as I have full confidence in their ability to deliver on their commitments."

iCleaners is committed to continuing to serve their customers regardless of their needs. They aim to further promote their eco-friendly cleaning services and hope more customers will sign up to it. They guarantee that the green cleaning products do not in any way compromise in the quality of the results and that they are equally hygienic.
