

Outpatient Clinic Looking For Physical Therapist Near Los Angeles

March 01, 2023

Virginia Beach, Virginia - March 01, 2023 -
Virginia Beach, Virginia based Proactive Healthcare Recruiters is pleased to announce that a clinic in Brentwood is looking for applicants for a physical therapist job in a personalized care facility. Proactive Healthcare Recruiters is dedicated to finding highly qualified, forward-thinking healthcare professionals and integrating them with existing healthcare teams, and applicants in the Los Angeles, CA area are invited to apply today for this position.

The clinic, located in the Brentwood area of Los Angeles, is looking for a passionate and dedicated applicant ? either recent grad PT or PTLA ? who is looking for one-on-one mentorship beyond what they would ordinarily receive in a large corporate setting. This is an opportunity for applicants to learn how to treat patients most effectively through hands-on training, clinical skills training and CEUs. The position will also afford the opportunity for the applicant to work in a fast-paced environment where they can make an actual, impactful difference in people's lives.

As Proactive Healthcare Recruiters shares via their website, Physical Therapists (or Physical Therapist License Applicants), can stand out from the crowd by applying a unique approach to how they treat their patients. By becoming an expert manual therapist, they can help thousands of patients avoid expensive imaging, injections and unnecessary surgery and get back control over their lives. The application also highlights that the location of the clinic is in a vibrant and beautiful area of Los Angeles within walking distance of cafes, restaurants and outdoor markets, allowing for a relaxed life outside of work hours. Additionally, it also notes that foreign applicants with a US work visa looking for sponsorship will be considered. Those who are interested in pursuing this mentorship opportunity should apply through the following link: https://careers.proactivehealthcarerecruiters.com/.

James Pemberton from Proactive Healthcare Recruiters says, ?Recovering from injuries is not easy, and helping patients go through that process and gain control of their lives is also a difficult prospect. In addition to having the right qualifications and the education, any good physical therapist also needs to be able to connect with the patients and help them overcome obstacles, both mental and physical. This mentorship opportunity provides PTs a chance to put their knowledge and their empathy into practice, to learn on the job and better themselves ? and be the best version of themselves.?

Proactive Healthcare Recruiters take great pride in being as comprehensive as possible in how they connect a candidate with an employer. They carefully match all skills of the candidate with the specific needs of the employer to ensure that both the client and the candidate are fully satisfied with the pairing and will work well together. Proactive Healthcare Recruiters assures that both healthcare professionals looking for a new job and recruiters looking for the ideal candidate can benefit from the services provided by the company.

Thomas, a candidate who has worked with Proactive Healthcare Recruiters to find a job, says, ?Proactive contacted me as a recruiter in the healthcare industry, and from the first contact with me, through the interview process and eventual hire date, was a consummate professional. They know their client's needs well, and they did a terrific job of coaching, supporting and guiding me through the interview process while keeping the important channels of communication flowing with the employer, their client. I would wholeheartedly recommend Proactive as a recruiter from either a client/employer or potential employee perspective.?
