November 24, 2015 - PRESSADVANTAGE -

Just Cloud, a web storage company, is now offering unlimited cloud storage to those who use their services. The company believes this will bring them to the top of their competition, making them one of the best cloud storage providers available.

Along with the limitless nature of the services, Just Cloud also provides clients with a 100% automated secure service with an online control panel. This panel can track lost property, including laptops and sync multiple computers at a time. The company explains: "With Just Cloud, you decide which files and folders you want to sync and where you want to sync them. Just Cloud works in the background, so your most important data is always backed up and available to you. You can start editing a file on your office PC and finish it on your laptop at home."

Those who use the unlimited storage option from Just Cloud are offered 24/7 customer service and technical support. The company is compatible with all iPhone, Android and iPad applications, and allows users of the service to share data easily and openly with friends through an encrypted platform. Just Cloud describes their application as follows: "JustCloud uses a small desktop application to backup all of your computers to the cloud. Your files are constantly backed up and you can access them at any time from any device in the world."

Customers who are interested in obtaining this form of storage are directed to the company's website. Just Cloud encourages all new users to try the free application, inviting them to, "Get Cloud Storage Now!" The sign-up process is simple and can be completed from the online account creation link, allowing individuals to get started right away.

The unlimited cloud storage makes it simple to upload files, photos, videos, and more without the fear of losing data or running out of space to save important information. The no limit guarantee provided by Just Cloud gives users a freedom which is not available through all digital storage companies. This protects everything from homework to vacation photos with a few simple clicks of a mouse.
