

Luxury Holidays To Ltd. Launches New Website

November 24, 2015

November 24, 2015 - PRESSADVANTAGE -

Luxury Holidays To Ltd, a company based out of Croydon, United Kingdom, has launched a new website. The site allows individuals to search for holiday packages by location, type, and even the airline used. The CEOs of the company used a combination of 30 years of experience within the travel and holiday industry to design this website for optimal use among all types of consumers.

The company itself has been in operation for more than a decade, specializing in the business of hand selecting tailor-made packages for their clients. The new website provides information on five key luxury properties, each of which the company holds a personal relationship with. This means that unlike other holiday businesses, Luxury Holidays To Ltd. has direct contact with many of the top resorts and hotel locations listed on the new site. They write: "Luxury Holidays offers a personal service to tailor make the perfect holiday or trip you desire. Whatever your needs our experts will find the best deal for you, making your trip hassle-free."

Visitors to the site can request quotes on selected hotels, airfare, and other vacation characteristics through an easy to complete online form. Individuals are also encouraged to contact the company by telephone using the number listed on the site.

The new website has been organized for ease of use and customer satisfaction, providing access to destinations such as Dubai, Maldives, Barbados, Singapore, and Thailand. Locations can be chosen by selecting the Destinations menu, which includes Indian Ocean, South East Asia, Caribbean, and U.A.E. as possible escapes.

Holiday types included on the new website include honeymoon retreats, weddings, all-inclusive holidays, and multi-center holidays. Each of these categories expands into their own individual pages and breaks down the retreat type into unique packages with detailed descriptions of services and customizable features.

More information on the business and its brand of luxury holidays can also be seen through the social media account found on Facebook. Here, clients can follow along with news relating to the new website and receive updates on promotions and discounts. Other social media connections can be made through the company's Twitter account, making it easy to communicate with them and others who use the holiday services.
