Delta 8 products contain tetrahydrocannabinol (THC), which is the main psychoactive ingredient of cannabis, but are less potent than delta 9 products. Although delta 8 is similar to delta 9 THC, its molecular structure is slightly different, which is the reason for delta 8 being less potent. Delta 8 products can offer feelings of relaxation, tranquility, euphoria, including possible pain relief but with a much milder effect. This makes them appropriate for people who want to try the ?high? but don?t want to use delta 9 products. It should be pointed out, however, that delta 8 products may cause the same side effects as delta 9 products.
