

The Premiere Coding School In The Nation, Coder Camps, Is Coming To Chicago

November 18, 2015

November 18, 2015 - PRESSADVANTAGE -

Coding Bootcamps are sprouting up all over the nation, and now the leading bootcamp is moving to Chicago to be the only .NET class provider in the area.

The nation's premiere programming school, Coder Camps, proudly announced its move to Chicago, IL. "We have locations in Dallas, Seattle, San Francisco, and Houston, but we can't ignore the incredible demand for .NET programmers in Chicago."

Surprisingly, there are no other coding bootcamps providing .NET classes, given the demand for qualified and skilled .NET programmers. Coder Camps' new location will be the only .NET bootcamp in the Chicago area, offering a 12-week intensive program. Students with little to no coding experience are welcomed into the program that consists of a 3-week introductory experience called "Coding From Scratch." The students will learn the basics of HTML, CSS and other basics to ensure that they're prepared with a foundation that will allow them to be successful in their Full Stack .NET program.

The Full Stack .NET program consists of 6-weeks of face-to-face instruction from experienced instructors that

?wrote the book? on .NET, ASP .NET, etc? In fact, some of the instructors not only have several published books in these areas, but some can even claim to be Microsoft ?Legend,? a title given to only 16 programmers in history. After 6-weeks of instruction, the students spend the next 3-weeks putting their skills to use by teaming up with their classmates to create a group project. The group projects help students fine-tune their skills, and more importantly, enable them to provide employers with true examples of their work.

Coder Camps is the top .NET coding bootcamp in the nation, and is rather selective about the students that they bring on board. ?We take our admissions process very seriously,? said Chris Lipari, the Executive Vice President of Coder Camps, ?the minute my team and I start taking on mediocre students is the moment that our employers stop coming back to the well to hire our students.?

Coder Camps boasts an impressive 94% job placement rate, within the field, and within 3-months of graduation. Their unique and customized approach to career services avoids resume templates, and provides students with a one-on-one experience that allows them to reach their specific goals. While prospective students do not need prior coding experience, they are expected to come in with specific goals set, a high level of focus and determination, and good communication abilities.

Financing and scholarships are available for students in need. For example, Coder Camps offers their exclusive ?Hero Scholarship,? which is a full-scholarship to attend Coder Camps. To be eligible for the scholarship, candidates must have served in the U.S. military, police force, as a firefighter, or teacher.

Anna Cassaro, a recent Coder Camps graduate said, ?I was really nervous because I didn?t have any coding experience, but the professors made learning from scratch fun, easy to understand, and went at a comfortable pace. The curriculum is fresh and updated, which means we?re learning the newest stuff.?

Classes begin on November 30th at the new Chicago location.

About Coder Camps:

Coder Camps is the top coding and development school, with locations in Houston, TX, San Francisco, CA, and Seattle, WA and a new coding boot camp in Dallas. Students learn coding from scratch, and are welcomed without any prior coding experience. The fresh and updated curriculum consists of an intense 12-week bootcamp-style classroom experience. Students can take classes 100% online or in the classroom, where they learn the newest technologies, such as .NET, HTML, JavaScript and much more! Coder Camps boasts a 94% job placement rate and goes above and beyond to help their students find a career after graduation. Find more information by heading over to: <https://www.codercamps.com/Home/Chicago>

###

For more information about Coder Camps, contact the company here: Coder Camps Mitch Gonzalez 713-340-2001 Mitch@codercamps.com 11200 Broadway Street, Suite 2731 Houston, TX 77584

Coder Camps

Coder Camps is the top coding and development school, with locations in Dallas, Houston, TX, San Francisco, CA, and Seattle, WA. Students learn coding from scratch, and are welcomed without any prior coding experience.

Website: <https://www.codercamps.com/Home/Dallas>

Email: Mitch@codercamps.com

Phone: 713-340-2001

Powered by PressAdvantage.com