

Las Vegas Premier Moving Company Announces New Commercial Services

November 23, 2015

November 23, 2015 -
Las Vegas, Nevada based company, Triple 7 Movers, has announced a new realm of services for local and long distance moving needs. The company is now providing moving services to area businesses, and those across the nation.

A spokesperson for the company states, "What makes our moves so successful is the system that we use. We utilize a system that enables us to show the floor plan and the exact placement of all equipment and office furnishings." The system enables all items that are to be moved to be labeled such that the floor, room number, and precise location of each item is identified in the new facility.

"We even draw in smaller items that may not be on the floor plan, so that employees know exactly where everything will be going," states the spokesperson.

Triple 7 Movers states that this same technique is used when relocating all facilities including laboratories that often call for the moving of fragile equipment. The Las Vegas moving company says that this enables them to ensure that all pieces are placed properly, saving time for the company and enabling them to get back to work quickly after the move.

The company provides services for moving long distances to businesses as well as local moving. The company spokesperson states that they offer experienced project management in addition to competitive rates, helping businesses to move from one facility to another quickly so as not to disrupt production substantially.

The company says that although most moving companies have the capacity to move homeowners and small offices, not many of them can handle larger commercial moves, particularly laboratory moves where sensitive equipment are handled, which is what makes them unique.

They claim that logistical planning along with expert project management are the keys to any successful organizational move. They meet with project administrators to identify the best way to get the move done, and the best time-frame for the move.

The company is now offering commercial moving services through its Las Vegas base, and provides moves for organizations across the nation. More about Triple 7 Movers can be seen on their official website.
