Long Island Accident Attorney Keetick L. Sanchez Explains Compensation After a Serious Injury in New York

November 03, 2022

JACKSON HEIGHTS, NY - November 03, 2022 -
Long Island Accident Attorney Keetick L. Sanchez (https://accidentlawyer-queens.com/long-island-personal-injury-attorney/) releases a new article discussing how a victim may be able to receive compensation after a serious injury in New York. The lawyer mentions that some accident injuries may be resolved with medical intervention and healing time. However, some are completely life-changing and financially devastating.

?For those who have suffered serious injuries in accidents caused by another party?s negligence, compensation from the at-fault party may be available. For these individuals, having an experienced Long Island accident lawyer in their corner can be critical to getting the help they need to go on with life after their injuries,? says the Long Island Accident Attorney.

The lawyer mentions that personal injury law applies to many types of injuries and damages that can be caused by another party?s negligence. Victims of accidents have the right to financial compensation, particularly if negligence was involved. If the victim is permanently disabled, the financial compensation could include short-term medical expenses and lost wages.

Attorney Keetick L.Sanchez says insurance was created to assist victims of accidents. However, insurance companies are profit-oriented businesses. The more victims are compensated, the less money they can keep. Insurance companies offer settlements that are often less than the victims deserve.

?Seeking a legal representative is very important when you are looking at years, or even a lifetime of pain and suffering due to the personal injury you got from a dangerous accident. You can also avoid financial hardship and stress by hiring a personal injury lawyer who may be able to help you recover compensation,? the lawyer adds in the article.

Lastly, attorney Keetick emphasized the importance of having a skilled accident lawyer who may be able to help the client protect their legal rights and protect their rights to compensation for their injuries.
