

Chase Pays Cash, Warns Homeowners of A Steep Decline in Home Prices

November 08, 2022

Trussville, Alabama - November 08, 2022 -
Leading cash for home buying company Chase Pays Cash has warned homeowners of further declines in home prices. However, according to reports, Chase Pays Cash may not be the only company warning homeowners of impending doom and gloom.

The housing market isn?t just in correction as it was first thought; instead, home prices are continuing to decline in many parts of the US. Falling home prices are a reality, and moving forward, the question is how many more housing markets will be affected by these steep and growing price drops. Not to mention how far will the market fall. Chase Pays Cash has said, ?We buy houses Birmingham and beyond while making fair cash offers. Now may be the best time to sell as prices are declining and will almost certainly drop further.?

The leading real estate software, Black Knight, has produced data showing that prices were down by 0.98% in August compared to July of this year, but then there is a further decline of 1% in October and then November. Now, to put things into context, this amounts to a decline that?s around the same as 13 years ago and is the eighth largest since the 1990s. If anything, expect prices to drop in many cities over the next few months.

Simply put, anyone who wants to sell shouldn?t wait any longer and instead sell immediately. Readers can get a cash offer for their home by visiting https://www.chasepayscashforhouses.com.

?If you are thinking, how do I sell my house fast, Birmingham, then be assured that Chase Pays Cash for it! That?s probably the best time to sell your home, especially if you have been thinking about selling it for a while. The beauty of selling it today is that you will still get a higher price for it, compared to probably in December or even January 2023, when the market may be even lower,? said an executive for Chase Pays Cash.

She added, ?We buy houses Birmingham, regardless of their condition and size. You don?t even have to clean it up before selling because our crew will take care of that too.?
