November 19, 2015 - PRESSADVANTAGE -

To provide expert and professional legal assistance to their clients in order to make claims with Insurance Companies for their car's diminished values, American Insurance Advocate Group has announced their expert legal claim assistance in all 50 states.

The car's diminished value is the reduction in its worth with time and due to any accidental damage. The Insurance companies generally pay only for repairs and thus people generally have to settle for much less than what they actually should have gotten. However there are provisions with which the person can claim for the fair insurance from the companies with the help of a reputable firm's proof of amount. American Insurance Advocate Group is one of the most reputable law firms assisting people to make legally binding fair diminished value claim with the amount that their client actually deserved to be paid. They announced these services and assistance are available in all 50 states now.

Christian Vazquez, CEO-Auto appraiser, Adjuster and Claims specialist, said that the people generally are not sure about what claim they can make legally or if they are even qualified to make such claims. The expert law firms like American Insurance Advocate Group provide such assistance to their clients in all such situations. He said that the firm's experts make the claims legally binding after making a proper calculation and thus assist their clients in claiming for and getting a fair value.

While announcing the services in all 50 states, he pointed out that the insurance companies generally benefit from the unawareness among people about the concept of diminished value and the amount for which they can make a claim. He then added that American Insurance Advocate Group has experts that specialize in such cases. They have the experience and once going through the details, they provide the expert assistance to their clients in the most professional manner.

Talking about what makes them different from others, he said that it is the approach of their company towards making a fair diminished value calculation and appraisal. Now a point worth noting is that there are different calculations that each company makes in their own way. So what this ends up with is the clients getting good or bad value for their claims. He said that their firm makes the calculation after taking into consideration the damage to the car and the local dealer's comparables, which generally other companies don't make.

As reported, the firm is USPAP compliant with experts having years of experience. With their clients providing the highly warm testimonials for their successful results, the company is offering their expert legal assistance with a money back guarantee. Now with the announcement made, people can benefit with their expertise in making diminished value claims all 50 states. For more information, visit:
