Clyppi, a business in Beaverton, OR, is proud to announce that their recently released nail art brushes have already been receiving numerous five star reviews. Launched as professional style brushes that can be afforded by everyday users, customers both in the beauty industry and those who simply do their own nails have been raving about the product. They have also been highly appreciative of the silver pouch the brushes are contained in.

"We aimed to release a product that could be used equally well at home and in the salon, at a price that people can afford," says Keegan Allen from Clyppi. "While we stood behind our quality from the day of the launch, it is really nice to see people are appreciating what we have delivered to the market."

The product comes with four different sets of brushes. They are acrylic, nail art, dotting, and gel. This ensures people can create the most beautiful designer nails, with intricate details. Each of the brushes has been carefully selected so that the set includes only the highest quality and most useful brushes for nail art.

The reviews have been overwhelmingly positive. "I love the sparkly silver case Clyppi's brush set comes in - it is so pretty that I hate storing it out of sight," says one happy customer. "The selection of brushes is phenomenal, and a handy brush guide is included that explains how to use each brush. When I was younger, my sister, friends and I used to spend hours doing each other's nails and painting all sorts of things on them. I've been looking for a set that would make the process easier for our nieces when we get together for a girl's spa day. This set is perfect."

The care and tips card that is included with the set shows people how to keep their brushes clean and in good condition. It also explains how each brush should be used. Finally, it shows a few examples of the creations users can make, to provide them with some inspiration. Clyppi wants to encourage people to send photographs of the designs they have come up with.
