Skygold Financial Group, a company based in Oakland, CA, is proud to announce that Andrej Kandus, the company's founder and principal, has been accepted as a member of the Institute of Untaxable Wealth. Institute members gain access to strategies that assist pre-retirees, retirees, business owners, affluent and high income Americans who are concerned about the impact of taxation on their retirement income and wealth.

Institute members support their clients by taking a multidisciplinary approach to the design and implementation of untaxed retirement income plan strategies (U-RIP strategies). U-RIP's are a collection of strategies and tactics designed to reduce, eliminate, recapture or offset taxes, using methods often overlooked by tax attorneys, CPAs, and financial advisors due to a focus on their primary discipline. Institute members assist with current year and long range approaches for maximizing retirement income and often work in conjunction with other professionals for effective implementation. Institute members help bridge the knowledge gap that can occur between the CPA, financial advisor, life insurance agent, pension specialist and tax attorney. Although a majority of members do not prepare taxes, provide legal or tax advice, they are key to providing novel, high impact financial strategies that can be used to maximize retirement income and wealth.

The Institute of Untaxable Wealth is an exclusive multidisciplinary membership organization that curates and educates about high impact financial strategies through monthly webinars, online courses, and design development assistance with a team of subject matter experts. Membership to the institute is open to various kinds of financial professionals, such as CPAs, attorneys, pension specialists, enrolled agents, life insurance agents, and financial advisors who are interested in helping their clients implement methods that can accelerate wealth accumulation in an environment that is free from taxation. Members must satisfy several membership prerequisites including a minimum number of years of experience in their discipline, maintain an active professional license in their discipline(s), and complete and pass a background investigation.

Skygold Financial Group offers a range of services, such as: asset protection; tax planning; financial planning; estate planning; and premium finance. And when it comes to tax optimization planning, Skygold takes a novel approach by taking a look at various factors to ensure that they are being proactive and not just reactive. Andrej Kandus says, "What we want to impress upon potential clients is that if you are not using a firm familiar with the U-RIP strategies, you may not be receiving the best advice possible. This means that you may be paying more in income taxes, capital gains taxes, and ultimately your heirs may pay more in estate taxes upon your death."

Skygold Financial Group was established by Andrej Kandus to specialize in unconventional techniques for protecting and growing wealth without market risk. Skygold's team are experts in advanced planning concepts for business and untaxed retirement. A key approach used is known as privatized banking, which can help clients with cash flow management, asset maximization, elimination of debt, creation of lifetime streams of tax free income, and unveiling hidden assets. Some of the financial concepts they can help with are: asset protection; decreasing income taxes; estate planning; guaranteed income for life; and establishing a tax-free retirement nest egg.
