Louis Carter, founder of WestOz Trades, says, ?We are your friends in aircon and refrigeration. We specialise in residential and commercial air-conditioning and refrigeration works with innovative solutions for any job or issue at hand. And we maintain a large portfolio of aircon units, refrigeration systems and mechanical assets throughout Perth and specialise in preventative maintenance and breakdown works.?

For residential properties, they offer various services, such as: air conditioning installation and air conditioning repair service Perth residents can rely on; service and air conditioning maintenance; and split system air con hydro cleaning and mold removal. For commercial properties they offer: preventative asset service and maintenance; air con breakdown and repairs; air conditioning installation; and air con balancing.

They also provide home automation services. They work closely with some automation brands, such as Airtouch, Advantage Air, and Myzone. The home automation system is primarily a climate control system that allows for accurate control of the temperature in each individual room in the home. For this, they can add up to 12 touch screen consoles or sensors, that is, for every room that the homeowner wants to control the temperature precisely, all the time. It is also possible to direct airflow only to chosen rooms to achieve optimum efficiency and savings. This home automation system will work with leading ducted air conditioning brands.

WestOz Trades is also a reliable provider of services for the residential and commercial property management industry. They ensure that all of the processes and systems will allow every work order or project stress free from beginning to the end. Once they have received a work order, clients can rest assured that all of the required works will be done efficiently and quickly.

Founded in 2016 by Louis Carter, WestOz Trades Air Conditioning Services was launched as a one-man show by Louis who along with his trusted dog quickly gained the trust of clients in the residential and property management industry as a result of his honest work and high integrity. All of these initial clients are still with WestOz Trades at the present time. The air con contractor has now grown into a full-service air conditioning service, maintenance, and installation provider serving both small and large scale organisations all over Australia. The company now boasts of a fully equipped fleet of vehicles with reliable and knowledgeable technicians who comply with the company?s core values.
