Franklin D. Azar & Associates Legal Wins $2 Million Verdict for Injured Motorcyclist

December 08, 2022

Aurora, Colorado - December 08, 2022 -
Aurora, Colorado - A Denver jury awarded more than $2 million in damages on November 10 to a 24-year-old motorcyclist with injuries from a 2021 crash. The personal injury legal firm Franklin D. Azar & Associates represented the plaintiff.

"Credit has to go to the client for having faith in the judicial process and the guts to go to trial," said Azar senior attorney Joseph Sirchio.

In 2021, the motorcyclist was driving northbound when a southbound truck turned left in front of the cyclist. The motorcyclist collided with the turning truck, shattering the motorcyclist?s femur. The insurance company of the defendant argued that the motorcyclist was at fault for the crash, alleging that the plaintiff was speeding and did not possess a motorcycle license.

"The insurance companies don?t intimidate Frank Azar," stated lead attorney Sirchio. "Frank is known for taking difficult cases to trial."

At trial, Sirchio introduced witnesses to testify about the motorcyclist?s surgeries and recovery and the circumstances of the crash. "We argued that the motorcyclist had the right of way and that the defendant was at fault for turning when he saw an oncoming motorcycle," Sirchio says.

Colorado uses a comparative negligence model that allows victims to recover some of the damages they sustained even if they were partially at fault. The jury also decided that the motorcyclist was 20 percent at fault for the accident. In this case, the motorcyclist received $2.2 million, including interest. The jury returned from deliberation with an award of $500,000 for non-economic damages, $1,000,000 for economic damages and medical bills, and $1,000,000 for impairment.
