

Man Says: The River Source Had My Back in Fight Against Addiction

December 08, 2022

Arizona City, Arizona - December 08, 2022 -
Arizona City, Arizona ? A former client was so grateful for the addiction treatment he received at The River Source, he left an enthusiastic five-star review on Google.

?If you need help then just call them and ask,? wrote the former client, Mike. ?The River Source had my back and showed me so much that I thought I?d lost.?

The River Source is a fully accredited drug and alcohol rehab center with five locations in Arizona. It offers a robust, long-term treatment program that takes an integrative approach to therapy, combining naturopathic and conventional treatments on the entire continuum of care ? from detox to residential treatment and lifetime alumni services. Programs include partial hospitalization and intensive outpatient programs.

Unique among addiction treatment programs, The River Source offers a Recovery Guarantee. Under the promise, patients who relapse within a year of graduation can return for treatment at no charge if they have completed the full 120-day program and adhere to their treatment plan. Behind this bold plan is research showing that the longer a client stays in rehab, the greater their chance of long-term success. The Recovery Guarantee was designed to increase the odds for its clients by offering an incentive to remain in treatment for the entire continuum of care.

The River Source offers treatment for dependence on a variety of substances, from alcohol, marijuana and cocaine to heroin, opioids, methamphetamine, Benzodiazepines and prescription drugs. All care is evidence-based care and takes a holistic approach. that treats body, mind and spirit as one interrelated entity. This can include nutritional IV therapy, massage, dry sauna, acupuncture, yoga and meditation.

Care is provided by a team of doctors, nurses, licensed counselors and behavioral health technicians, all dedicated to ensuring clients are safe, comfortable and on track for success.

Treatment begins with detox, the phase that prepares the body for therapy by eliminating the toxins that have built up during substance use. Because detox can be an uncomfortable and even painful time, The River Source conducts it with round-the-clock medical care and a combination of medical and naturopathic therapies to ease the side effects of withdrawal.

From there, clients move to residential treatment programs, which are separate for men and women. Key offerings include group therapy, individual counseling, family therapy, co-occurring disorders and trauma-informed care and therapy. Treatment is 12 Step-focused and emphasizes peer support. In addition, The River Source offers a special pregnancy track for women.

Clients experience treatment in a setting that is far from plush but is comfortable, with amenities that are small but can have a big impact. For instance, clients can watch TV in detox and in residential areas, and the facilities include fitness equipment, games and recreational activities.

These simple but nurturing details help The River Source create a judgment-free space where those struggling with addiction can heal mind, body and spirit while reclaiming their lives. Clients acquire the tools they need to avoid substance abuse in the future, and build a community that will support sobriety long after the program is over.

?I?m not there anymore,? Mike concluded in his review, ?but I know now I can trust them to help me because I wanted it so much. Just didn?t know how. They helped me. But I gotta put the work in. So call them and ask questions.?

The River Source is an in-network facility for all major insurance plans, although no one is ever turned away because of financial difficulties. It is accredited by The Joint Commission, a non-profit agency that certifies more than 22,000 U.S. healthcare organizations and programs. For information, visit The River Source or call 866-367-6881.
