January 09, 2023 -
Home Instead Watford, a multi-award-winning home care company from the UK, has announced that it is expanding its team of Care Professionals by adding several local part time jobs in Watford.

Home Instead Watford delivers the highest standard in-home services throughout Watford, Bushey, Stanmore, Oxhey, Carpenders Park, Croxley, Rickmansworth, and surrounding areas. It offers care and support to allow individuals to lead fulfilling lives in safe and familiar surroundings where they feel most comfortable, in their own homes. The company?s newest hiring spree aims to bring on part-time employees who have a passion for helping those who struggle to take care of themselves. Some of the common tasks expected from Home Instead Care Professionals include assisting clients with personal, dignified care, light housework, companionship, help with mobility, and other help around the home.

The company?s spokesperson describes the qualities they are looking for in candidates by saying, ?The ideal Home Instead Care Professional is a kind and compassionate individual who wants to be there for those in need. Since our clients are mostly lonely seniors, they will be very eager to share stories about their long and interesting lives. So, you need to be a good listener who keeps them engaged. Apart from connecting with them on a human level, you will also be expected to keep a note of their preferences, such as if they enjoy tea or coffee, support them with mobility, help them up and around their home safely, help them to put on a coat or their shoes and other support, make quick and easy meals how they like, help them around the home with light housekeeping, keep the environment safe for them, and be punctual for your appointments. You must also have access to a reliable form of transportation and the Right to Work in the UK. So, if you are an empathetic individual looking for the most gratifying part time jobs Watford has to offer, head over to our website to apply today.?

Scott Wright, a caregiver turned Business Development Manager for Home Instead, talks about his journey with the company by saying, ?Before joining Home Instead, I worked as a very successful PR professional. However, the universe had its own plans for me, and I ended up unemployed for three years. I failed to garner any interest from potential employers and had hardly any interviews to speak of. It was a tough and uncertain time in my life that sapped my confidence. It was then that I joined Home Instead Watford as a caregiver, something that I had never envisioned myself doing. The company offered me rigorous training and education on helping the community to continue living in their own homes. The training and subsequent work reinvigorated my sense of purpose. Soon, I tapped into my PR skills and started working as the company?s Head of Recruitment. Today, I?m responsible for generating new client inquiries, and sourcing, screening, shortlisting, interviewing, and ultimately hiring new Care Professionals to service our clients in and around Watford. I love my job and the people who I work with. I consider my coworkers family because, to me, they have been nothing short of that. Home Instead Watford lets me help others like me who want the opportunity to make a difference. So, if you are looking for a part-time job, I urge you to consider working in care. You may just find it to be the most rewarding experience of your life.?

Home Instead Watford is committed to creating a welcoming and productive work environment and as a result, most of the company?s staff have been with it for many years. Some of the perks it provides employees include matching them with clients who share similar interests and hobbies, visits that are local and work around their commitments, great hourly pay of up to £12.25 per hour, and free training to ensure they can comfortably handle their responsibilities.
