Paradise Construction, Inc., a business based in Monroe, WA, is proud to announce that they have completed a fire damage repair job in Everett, WA. The job took around six months to complete and has resulted in an entirely brand new home. The owner, Marylyn L., couldn't be happier with the result.

"We were contacted by Marylyn L. whose property had suffered moderate fire damage, which could have been repaired" says Galen Holmquist from Paradise Construction, Inc. "We dealt with the entire process for her, from contacting the insurance company to negotiating and documenting the actual scope of repairs, and then actually building and entirely new home! We're happy to say Marylyn is once again comfortable in her own home."

The house was over 60 years old, and if merely repaired would still have had many problems and deficiencies. Paradise Construction dealt with the insurance company on Marylyn's behalf and arranged a $250,000 settlement. With this money, they were able to construct a 100% brand new house, from foundation to roof. It took six months to complete, and to Marylyn, the result is phenomenal.

"I'm so happy with the work that Paradise Construction did," says Marylyn L. "The damage to my property was only moderate, but because it was such an old house, it was hard to tell what the potential long term consequences could be. Rather than fixing individual issues, Paradise Construction literally built me a brand new home, and it looks so much better than it did before. I now have my home back. I really can't thank the team enough for their fantastic work, and all their patience in working with me."

Paradise Construction prides itself on the personal touch they give each client. As a small, family run business, they believe that integrity and transparency should come first and they build personal relationships with each of their clients in order to deliver the results they truly want. Backed by more than 35 years of experience in the field, the company knows what they are doing both in terms of the actual construction work and in terms of dealing with insurance companies to get the best possible settlement. For Paradise Construction, customer satisfaction and quality work are of utmost importance.
